NEW YORK FINANCIERS GAIN CONTROL OF OLD CAPITAL GAS LIGHT CO.

Washington Utility Firm Stock Is Transferred in $6,000,000 Deal.

GROUP HOLDS 75,000 OF 120,000 SHARES

President, Four Directors Among Those to Dispose of Holdings.

NEGOTIATIONS BEGUN IN FALL LAST YEAR

Buyers Agree to Pay $125 Per Share for Certificates Left Outstanding.

Control of the Washington Gas Light Co., one of the Capital's oldest public utility corporations, yesterday passed into the hands of a group of New York financiers.

The New York group, headed by D. A. Pearson, and represented locally by Wilton J. Lambert, Washington attorney, yesterday acquired a sufficient block of stock to give it control of the company.

The deal, which eventually will involve approximately $6,000,000, was consummated yesterday when five members of the company's directorate sold their holdings at $125 a share. In all, about 15,000 shares changed hands, the price paid being in the neighborhood of $1,875,000.

Local Control Ends.

The transaction marked the end of local control of the company, as it gave the New York group headed by Mr. Pearson possession of approximately 75,000 of the 120,000 shares in the corporation.

Among those who sold their stock yesterday, The Post learned, were Ord Preston, president of the company; James M. Green, H. Prescott Gatley, William King and Robert D. Weaver, all of whom are directors in the company.

Under the terms of the sale, the new purchasers have agreed to buy up all outstanding stock at $125 a share. Washington Gas was quoted on the local exchange yesterday at $123 bid and $125 asked.

Outstanding Stock Sought.

The new owners of the company, it is understood, are ready to buy up all outstanding stock. They will pay $125 a share for it to stockholders as of June 12, if delivery is made before June 27 of this year.

Negotiations for purchase of the Washington Gas Light Co. were begun last year. It is understood that Mr. Pearson acquired his first block of stock last September. The price paid then also was $125 a share, which was said to be the highest ever given. It was considerably above current market quotations.

Mr. Pearson obtained 7,000 shares on January 18 of this year, following a decision given in the District Supreme Court by Justice Bailey. Under the terms of the court's ruling, Joseph Leiter and other beneficiaries under the will of the late Mary Leiter were authorized to sell their gas stock.

On that occasion, as yesterday, Pearson was represented by Mr. Lambert, while the Leiter estate was represented by the law firm of Minor & Gatley.

Majority Acquisition Forecast.

At that time The Post announced, exclusively, that Mr. Pearson had acquired a large block of gas stock on behalf of New York associates, and eventually would obtain a majority of the stock.

The purchase in January enabled the New York interests to place on the board of directors Mr. Pearson and Mr. Lambert.

The transaction yesterday undoubtedly will soon result in a new board of directors. Present heads of the company are expected to notify shareholders of yesterday's action either today or tomorrow.

No Quick Change of Officers.

It is understood, however, that the company's new owners do not contemplate any immediate change in officers. It is believed that Mr. Preston will continue to serve as president, at least for some months. Eventually, however, new officers and a new board of directors will be elected.

Purchase of the Washington Gas Light Co. means, of course, that the Georgetown Gas Light Co., its subsidiary, also becomes the property of the New York investors.

The company now is earning about 8 per cent on the valuation recognized by the utilities commission. What the new owners will do with respect to the company's disputed valuation, of course, remains to be seen.

Premier Denies Murray Will Succeed Sir Esme

Lossiemouth, Scotland, June 13 (U.P.).—Prime Minister MacDonald, who is resting here this week, tonight denied published reports that Gilbert Murray might replace Sir Esme Howard as British Ambassador at Washington.

A Toast to the Flag

John J. Daly

Here's to the Red of it—
There's not a thread of it,
No, nor a shred of it
In all the spread of it
From foot to head,
But heroes bled for it,
Faced steel and lead for it,
Precious blood shed for it,
Bathing it Red!

Here's to the White of it—
Thrilled by the sight of it
Who knows the right of it
But feels the might of it
Through day and night?
Womanhood's care for it
Made manhood dare for it,
Purity's care for it
Keeps it so White!

Here's to the Blue of it—
Beauteous view of it,
Heavenly hue of it,
Star-spangled dew of it,
Constant and true.
Diadems gleam for it,
States stand supreme for it,
Liberty's beam for it
Brightens the Blue!

Here's to the Whole of it—
Stars, stripes and pole of it,
Body and soul of it,
O, and the roll of it
Sun shining through,
Hearts in accord for it,
Swear by the sword for it,
Thanking the Lord for it,
RED, WHITE and BLUE.

SENATORS PLAN TO OPEN FIGHT ON TARIFF BILL

Farm Measure Expected to Be Sent to Hoover Early Today.

FINANCE COMMITTEE MAY FIND SCOPE CUT

EDGE URGES SENATE TAKE ENTIRE CHARGE

All Sides See Probable Line-Up in Impending Battle as Close.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The farm bill probably will get out of the Senate and go to the President today as the tariff comes rip-snorting in.

With the House voting down the debenture, 250 to 113, more than 2 to 1, Senator McNary, head of the Senate conferees, hopes finally to dispose of the farm matter, in so far as Congress is concerned, shortly after the Senate convenes today.

But the way was laid yesterday for an immediate fight on the tariff, one involving the possibility, if not the probability, that the Senate finance committee either will be discharged from consideration of the tariff bill or restricted in its scope of dealing with it.

It is the fight of the South and West against the East getting immediately under way and incidentally further menacing the plans for a recess.

Fight Starts Early.

The fight got under way early in the day in the finance committee, about the time, in fact, that the House was making short shrift of the debenture. Senator King, of Utah, moved that the committee confine revision to agricultural and related products. It was voted down, 11 to 7, along strictly party lines.

Subsequently, Senator Borah, of Idaho, introduced a resolution giving it as the sense of the Senate that revision should be limited to agricultural and "directly related products." It comes up automatically today.

Senator Watson, the majority leader, denied on a vote on it before the close of yesterday's session, saying very frankly that he intended to try to find out how such a vote would go. Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, before the committee, suggested that industries feeling the need of increased protection could take their cases to the Tariff Commission.

The move of the Democrats, later picked up and furthered by Senator Borah, was a distinct surprise to the Republicans.

FRENCH AIRMEN, PARIS BOUND, ARE REPORTED BY STEAMSHIP OVER ATLANTIC, 850 MILES OUT

Motors Roar Steadily as Yellow Bird Drives On Through Night.

GREEN FLASH COMES TO GRIEF IN TAKE-OFF

Two Americans Escape as Ship Goes Over on Nose When Wheels Spread.

S. S. Wytheville, at Sea, to the Associated Press, June 13. (A.P.).—"The monoplane Yellow Bird passed over the American steamer Wytheville at 5:45 p. m., Eastern standard time. Latitude 41:09 north; 49:40 west. All O. K.

"CULVER, MASTER."

The position reported by Captain Culver is about 850 miles east and slightly south of Old Orchard. It is about 3,300 miles south and somewhat east of Cape Sable.

The aviators had been in the air about eight and a half hours and thus appeared to have averaged about 100 miles an hour.

The steamship Wytheville left Norfolk on June 8 for Rotterdam. It was reported 460 miles east of Cape Henry on June 10.

Three Are on Board.

Old Orchid, Me., June 13 (A.P.).—Somewhere over the Atlantic tonight three young Frenchmen were thought to be driving their plane, the Yellow Bird, on toward Paris.

The huge, single-motored monoplane, shipped from France for the flight, sped down the beach here at 94 miles an hour, lifted gracefully into the air at 10:08 a. m. (Eastern standard time).

While the French plane sailed on its way to the capital of the European republic and glory for its crew—Armeno Lotti, jr., sponsor and copilot; Jean Assolant, pilot, and Rene Lefevre, navigator—the Green Flash, groomed for a hop to Rome, crashed in an attempt to take off and was wrecked.

Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, pilot and navigator, respectively, of the plane, escaped uninjured when the wheels spread and the plane nosed over and whirled about.

Stowaway Thought Aboard.

There was a possibility that a stowaway was aboard the Yellow Bird. Two men told of seeing a youth clamber aboard while the motor of the plane was being warmed up and the parents of Arthur Schreiber, of Portland, were advised by two of his friends that he had secreted himself in the plane.

The Yellow Bird was reported only once after it left the beach. The big ship passed over Matinicus Rock Light, 20 miles off the coast from Rockland, a little more than an hour after the take-off. She was then flying fast and about 1,200 feet high.

When the Coast Guard amphibian, which started with the French plane, last saw her she was at an altitude of 2,400 feet and speeding on at 115 miles an hour.

Before the take-off Lotti announced that he would touch the tip of Cape Sable and then head for the "corner," the junction of the ship lanes, approximately 1,000 miles east southeast of Old Orchard.

Optional Courses in Mind.

From there he had two courses in mind. The southern would take him over the Azores and make the flight cover 4,300 miles; the northern would take him to longitude 47 latitude 29, and thence east to St. Nazaire and Paris, a total distance of only 3,700

TORCH KILLER GUILTY; SENTENCED TO DEATH

Bigamist Slayer of Illegal Wife Convicted by New Jersey Jury.

SPOUSE FAINTS IN COURT

Elizabeth, N. J., June 13 (A.P.).—Henry Colin Campbell, 61-year-old civil engineer, bigamist and former convict, was convicted today of murder in the first degree and sentenced to die in the electric chair July 15 for the "torch" slaying of Mrs. Mildred Mowry.

The jury deliberated four hours and a half. After the verdict was returned sentence was imposed by Supreme Court Justice Clarence E. Case.

As the prisoner was led from the courtroom Mrs. Rosles Campbell, his lawful wife, darted toward him, but was restrained by court attaches. She swooned a few minutes later.

Justice Case, in his charge, warned the jury that sympathy for the defendant should not enter into their deliberations. He explained that the law does not recognize a state of insanity in which the mental capacity of the accused senses right and wrong, but can not govern itself. Campbell's defense was temporary insanity. Physi-

Florenz Ziegfeld Enters 'Talkie' Producing Field

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—Florenz Ziegfeld, theatrical producer, and Samuel Goldwyn, film producer, today announced the formation of the Ziegfeld-Goldwyn Corporation for the production of musical shows for the audible screen.

All-talking, color, singing and dancing films will be produced by the new company, which will release its first picture through United Artists Corporation, of which Mr. Goldwyn is an owner-member. It was said at the Ziegfeld offices today that musical shows already produced by Mr. Ziegfeld would be among the first films.

Work will be begun in Hollywood early in January on the first picture, which, it is expected, will be ready for release some time in May. The wide screen will be used for the films to enable the reproduction of chorus and ensemble effects of musical shows.

WOMAN SUES HAYNES; ACCOUNTING IS ASKED

Mrs. Louise Chambers Claims Banker Dissipated Her $140,000 Fortune.

SIGNED NOTES IN BLANK

Harry V. Haynes, former president of the Farmers and Mechanics National Bank of Georgetown, was sued yesterday for an accounting in District Supreme Court by Mrs. Louise Chambers, of the Wardman Park Hotel, who alleges in her petition that Haynes "dissipated her entire fortune" through a series of what she charges were unauthorized financial transactions.

The amount involved in the suit for accounting, according to Mrs. Chambers' petition, is $140,000, the reported value of 1,000 shares of stock. Mrs. Chambers also avers that she was induced to sign blank notes to the bank for an additional sum of $140,000 without realizing that she owed the bank this money.

Haynes resigned as president of the Farmers and Mechanics National Bank September 16, 1928, and his resignation was accepted by the directors October 5 following a stormy meeting, after which George L. Nicolson, vice president of the institution, announced that Haynes' resignation was due to differences with his board of directors.

It was at that time that the Farmers and Mechanics National Bank merged with the Riggs National Bank. Haynes, who had held every responsible position with the District of Columbia Bankers Association and was at that time chairman of the Washington Clearing House Association, was not included in the plans of the Riggs Bank when it took over the Georgetown institution, although other officers of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank were provided with positions in the merger.

Mrs. Chambers, through her attorney, Norman Landreau, declares she was a depositor in the Farmers & Mechanics Bank in 1922 and had 1,000 shares of stock, valued at $140,000, at the time on deposit in the bank. She states that she purchased an apartment house

DAWES AND PREMIER SPEED UP INTERVIEW

Situation, Says MacDonald, Makes Both Anxious That There Be No Delay.

ARE TO CONFER SUNDAY

London, June 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—For months and months before the general election here Anglo-American diplomatic differences slept in pigeonholes, while to outside observers it seemed that neither side dared or cared to make the slightest move to straighten things out.

The change now is indeed startling, for never before in peace time has there been such quick diplomatic action on the part of a new ambassador from Washington and a new British premier as Ramsay MacDonald and Charles G. Dawes, assisted by King George and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, will get under way this week-end.

Dawes will leave the liner Olympic at

CONGRESS QUIZ SEEN IN PARKING PROBLEM

Senator Kean Urges Ban and Calls Present Conditions "Outrage! Disgrace!"

CAPPER SUPPORTS STAND

A senatorial investigation of the automobile parking situation in Washington appeared likely yesterday as the result of a complaint lodged with other members of the Senate District committee by Senator Hamilton F. Kean (Republican), of New Jersey.

Senator Kean, who is a vice president of the Automobile Club of America and extremely interested in the parking problem, declared that conditions in the National Capital are an "outrage and a disgrace."

Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), of Kansas, chairman of the District committee, told Senator Kean that he "fully agreed" with what he said about the parking situation, and thereupon assigned Kean to a place on the traffic subcommittee.

In a letter to Senator Daniel O. Hastings (Republican), of Delaware, chairman of the traffic subcommittee, Senator Capper expressed the hope that that body would give the parking problem here the study it deserves. If an investigation is ordered, it probably will be held during the regular session beginning in December.

In his letter to the other members of the Senate District committee, Senator Kean said:

"Parking of cars in the District of Columbia makes the city look to me

FARE FIGHT RENEWED BY CAPITAL TRACTION

Increase to 10 Cents a Ride Sought in Petition for Both Companies.

VALUATION TOO LOW, PLEA

The Capital Traction Co. yesterday renewed its efforts to boost street car fares.

In a formal petition filed with the Public Utilities Commission the company asked that the commission increase car fares to 10 cents cash with four tokens for 30 cents. The present fare is 8 cents cash with six tokens for 40 cents.

The Capital Traction Co. asked that the higher fare be applied not only to its lines, but to those of the Washington Railway & Electric Co.

This higher fare, if granted, will mean, according to Capitol Traction Co. figures, an additional $1,029,213.95 which the street car riders of Washington will have to pay for riding on the street cars each year. Of this amount John H. Hanna, president of the Capital Traction Co., estimates his company will get $457,512.60 and his competitor, the Washington Railway & Electric Co., will get $571,701.35.

The company based its plea for higher fares on a showing of an inadequate return on its valuation. This valuation, as shown on the utilities commission books, based on the court valuation of the company, was quoted at $26,080,144.72 as of December 31, 1928. The money available for return on this

Writer Says Pershing Urged Prolonged War

American Alone, Asserts Seymour, Opposed Armistice in November, 1918—Ignored by Clemenceau and Lloyd George.

New Haven, June 13 (U.P.).—Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of American troops in France, was the only allied commander who opposed granting Germany an armistice in November, 1918, Charles Seymour, provost of Yale University, asserts in the summer "Yale Review," to be published tomorrow.

Prof. Seymour has had access to most intimate sources of postwar discussions of what occurred in Europe during the vital World War years of 1917, 1918 and 1919.

He is the custodian of the papers of Col. E. M. House, Woodrow Wilson's wartime confidante, and has edited two volumes of them.

The story usually has been that President Wilson, particularly, and American statesmen in general, were the peacemakers. Prof. Seymour, in tempering this assertion, also defends the Americans from foreign charges that they were so pacific as to interfere with complete allied victory.

After quoting French, British and Italian generalissimos as favoring an immediate armistice, Prof. Seymour says:

"Of all the generals, Pershing was the only one who did not wish to grant an armistice and urged the continuation of the offensive against the Germans. When House laid Pershing's memorandum advising the continuation of the war before Clemenceau and Lloyd George, they brushed it aside with some show of contempt."

Prof. Seymour's discussion of events leading to the World War armistice is backed up by documents.

"President Wilson," he says, "merely made peace practicable by putting Germany's request (for an armistice) before them (the allies). They were free to accept or refuse it. In the end, it was the opinion of Marshal Foch himself that prevailed.

"That Foch himself approved the granting of the armistice is plain from the following conversation. It is recorded in a letter to Col. House written by Paul Mantoux, interpretor for the Supreme War Council:

"House asks Foch, 'Will you tell us, M. Le Marechal, solely from the military point of view, apart from any other consideration, whether you would prefer the Germans to reject or sign the armistice as outlined here?'

"Foch replies, 'Fighting means struggling for certain results. If the Germans now sign * * * those results are in our possession. This being achieved, no man has the right to cause another drop of blood to be shed.'"

Prof. Seymour departs from the scholar's usual view of the World War. It was not, he says, that the leaders were bad men; but they were not good enough.

"We must remember," he says, "that the soldiers and statesmen of the World War strove with conditions and forces which had escaped human control. It is a mistake to regard the outbreak of the war as inevitable. Yet to have avoided it in the circumstances of 1914 would have required a group of statesmen each endowed with a combination of moderation and courage, of foresight and of will power such as is rarely bestowed upon mortals."

"It" to Be Goal of Screen Test in Post-Fox Contest

Directors of Affair Desire to Find New Talent; Age Not Factor.

"It," rather than beauty, is required to successfully pass through the portal which leads to motion pictures—the screen test.

When The Washington Post, the Fox Washington Theater and the Fox Film Corporation got together and decided to give potential motion picture talent in Washington and vicinity the opportunity to take a screen test, those in charge of the affair knew that beauty would not be the chief feature in the winning of high places in the contest.

The lens of the movie camera does queer tricks and many a beautiful girl, presented in motion pictures, is hardly able to recognize herself, so much has she changed, while, on the other hand, those who apparently do not possess

Blanton Visits City Again; May Be Candidate in 1930

Fiery Texan, on Way to Princeton, Congratulates Capital on Improvements, and Advises Successor to Stay Off District Committee.

Former Representative Thomas L. Blanton, whose fiery oratory now is confined to the courthouse at Abilene, Tex., came back to Washington yesterday, mingled with his former colleagues in the House, congratulated the city on certain changes that have taken place, gave some advice to his successor and left behind him the definite impression that he will try to recapture his seat in 1930.

The peppery Texan, who probably made more local news than any man who ever sat in Congress, was looking for news yesterday.

"Hesse is retired, eh," he smiled. "And Burlingame, too. Well, well, well! Joined Fenning, eh? I want to congratulate the City of Washington. It is—what was it that fellow, Coue, used to say, oh yes, 'everyday, in every way, it is getting better and better.'"

Blanton once accused Edwin Hesse, former chief of police, of drinking in a saloon, fought former Capt. Guy E. Burlingame because of his relationship with a palmist, Helen Blalock, and drove former Commissioner Frederick A. Fenning out of office.

"Are you going to run in 1930?" Blanton was asked.

"I can't say," he replied. "I've got a pretty good law practice. I don't know; I really can't say anything one way or the other."

But those who know the Texan declared that these remarks were tantamount to an announcement that he will run again. When he left after the miles. Conditions when he reached the "corner" were to determine the course.

If the plane maintained an average speed of 100 miles an hour, which was considered probable, it should have been far beyond Cape Sable at 6 o'clock tonight.

The Yellow Bird also should have made its way through the "thick" weather which covered the ocean for about 200 miles off the coast.

Weather Nearly Perfect.

Dr. James H. Kimball, New York weather man, said they would have "as near perfect" weather as would ever be found over the north Atlantic.

Lotti, who also acted as radio man, said he would not send any messages until the ship had traveled at least 1,000 miles.

To Jean Assolant fell the responsibility and the honor of taking the heavily-laden craft into the air, with his bride of three days nervously watching the huge all-yellow ship gather momentum as it traveled down the beach. He took it aloft with a run of less than a mile and a half, gained a few hundred feet of altitude, and swung it about to the east.

French Proud of Countrymen.

Paris, June 14 (Friday) (A.P.).—The start and progress of the airplane Yellow Bird was followed last night and early this morning with intense interest by the French public, proud that Frenchmen had opened the transatlantic season.

All dispatches describing the take-off and the few sightings were printed prominently with photographs and maps by the newspapers.

All was ready to receive the three fliers at Le Bourget and other fields in France where they were likely to pass were instructed to keep a sharp lookout and to prepare for all emergencies.

The Yellow Bird was expected to arrive at Le Bourget if all goes well not later than 2 or 3 o'clock Saturday morning, although some airmen, in view of the highly favorable weather reports and the theoretical speed of the plane, said they would not be surprised if the trip was made in 30 hours, arriving at about 9 o'clock tonight.

The general feeling was one of great confidence, for it seemed that such an adventure was never taken under more favorable conditions. "They will make it," shouted M. Lotti, sr., today when informed that his son and companions were on their way. "I hope they have fair weather," he added, and then said, "I will be there," when told the hour at which they hoped to reach Le Bourget.

Lee Highway Body Sued by Promoter

Owes Him $3,500 and, in Addition, Broke Contract, He Alleges.

Suit for an injunction and accounting against the Lee Highway Association, a Virginia concern with offices in the Munsey Building, was instituted in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Dan Weigle, of Philadelphia, promoter of fund-raising campaigns.

Weigle complained through Attorney John Chumbley that the concern owes him $3,500, and also asked damages for alleged breach of a contract with him to manage a $100,000 campaign for the association. He declared a fee was paid him last February and he has carried out his part of the agreement, but the association has failed to perform its part.

Charging that the association is insolvent, Weigle asked the court to appoint a receiver to take over its assets and publish for creditors. The principal officers of the association, according to the complaint, are W. S. Showalter, acting president; Dr. S. M. Johnson, general director; W. S. Hoge, jr., and W. G. Galleher, members of the executive committee.

Log of the Yellow Bird On Its Flight to Paris

(Associated Press.)

June 13, 9:08 a. m., E. S. T. Took off from Old Orchard Beach, Maine, for Paris.

10:30 a. m., E. S. T. Passed over Matinicus Rock light, off the Maine Coast.

5:45 p. m., E. S. T. Reported by S. S. Wytheville at latitude 41° 09" north, 49° 40" west.

FLIERS MAY REACH PARIS 11 A.M. TODAY

Must Keep Maximum Speed Over Shorter Route to Accomplish Feat.

OTHERS TOOK MORE TIME

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—Should the Yellow Bird follow the shorter of the two routes under consideration when it left Old Orchard, and if it could maintain its maximum speed of 150 miles an hour throughout the flight, it would arrive in Paris shortly before 11 o'clock Eastern daylight time, tomorrow morning.

The length of this shorter route is 3,700 miles, which could be covered at the plane's maximum speed in slightly less than 25 hours. At the same speed over the 4,300-mile alternate course by way of the Azores and Portugal, arrival would be delayed until shortly before 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Eastern daylight time.

It was not believed likely, however, that anything like maximum speed could be maintained over the whole distance. At the plane's cruising speed of 130 miles an hour the flight would be completed in between 28 and 29 hours along the shorter route, or by 3 p. m. tomorrow. On the longer route 33 hours would be needed, placing the arrival between 7 and 8 p. m.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took 33½ hours for his 3,160 miles flight to Paris. Clarence D. Chamberlin took 42 hours for his flight of 3,790 miles. Both of these fliers, however, had ships of less potential speed than the Yellow Bird.

Two Earthquakes Felt On Georgetown Meters

(Associated Press.)

Two earthquakes, described by Director Tondorf as of "severe intensity," were recorded yesterday on the seismograph at Georgetown University.

One disturbance began at 7:25 a. m. and reached maximum intensity at 8:03 a. m. It was estimated as at 5,800 miles from Washington, while the distance of the other disturbance could not be estimated.

Manila, June 13. (A.P.).—An earthquake of unusual duration was felt at 5:25 p. m. today in the central and southern Philipine Islands. No serious damage was reported.

Capital Man Is Will Beneficiary.

Welding D. Owen, of 3013 Dumbarton avenue northwest, receives $2,000 under the will of the late Miss Harriet A. Hatch, which was filed for probate yesterday in New York City, according to advices received here. Miss Hatch died June 1, leaving an estate valued at $10,000.

BRIDE AWAITS NEWS OF MATE FLYING SEA

Mrs. Jean Assolant May Sail for Paris Shortly if Hop Is Successful.

ROME FLIERS SEEK PLANE

Old Orchard, Me., June 13 (U.P.).—While her husband sat at the controls of the French plane far out over the Atlantic tonight, Mrs. Jean Assolant, three-day bride of the young Frenchman, waited quietly for news of the flight.

"It was all so sudden," she said. "It is hard for me and it is hard for Jean. We have been together only three days."

Mrs. Assolant plans to remain here until definite word is received of the fliers. Then she will return to New York and probably sail for France to meet her husband in Paris.

Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, of the American plane Green Flash, left by plane this afternoon for New York, where they plan to secure another plane and attempt another flight.

They said they had received three offers of backing in another flight, and would begin preparations for another take-off as soon as the matter of the backers was decided upon.

The Green Flash is damaged beyond repair, in the opinion of local aviators. Both wheels, the propeller, the fuselage and the motor were badly damaged today when the plane stuck in the sand. The strain brought upon the plane by the accident will unfit it for further flying, it was thought.

With no report of the progress of the Yellow Bird reaching here since they were seen off the north Maine coast, speculation turned tonight to the question whether the French monoplane had a stowaway aboard.

Two Old Orchard boys, Raymond La Pointe and Robert Drew, claimed that a youngster named Alexander Jordan had succeeded in stowing himself aboard the plane just before it took off for Paris.

Local aviators gave little credence to the stowaway story, pointing to the fact that Armeno Lotti, jr., who rode in the cabin of the monoplane, would have discovered him immediately. They said it would have been impossible for any one to hide himself in the plane.

Five Capital Boys Are Made Officers

Washington Cadets Among Those Promoted at West Point.

Special to The Washington Post.

West Point, N. Y., June 13.—New cadet officers of the corps at the United States Military Academy were appointed this morning to succeed those who have graduated.

Five Washington cadets who received the coveted appointments, are as follows:

W. C. Sweeney, first sergeant; R. H. Booth, R. L. Carmichael, T. W. Miller and H. H. Howze, sergeants. C. C. Duehring, of Takoma Park, Md., also was appointed sergeant.

The graduation exercises were held in the open, around Battle Monument, where 299 West Pointers received diplomas from the hands of Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent of the academy. Secretary of War James W. Good addressed the cadets.

YELLOW BIRD TAKES STOWAWAY, BELIEF

Note Convinces Portland, Me., Parents Son Is Aboard Transocean Plane.

LAD REVEALS TOSS-UP

Potrland, Me., June 13 (A.P.).—Arthur Schreiber, 22, of 526 Washington avenue, tonight was believed to be a stowaway aboard the Yellow Bird as it winged its way to France.

A letter written to his parents has convinced them that he stowed away before the huge monoplane raced down the sands on the take-off.

"God will save my boy," Mrs. Schreiber said, as she walked the floor of her home awaiting some word from the plane.

The letter was given to the Schreibers this afternoon by a chum of young Schreiber. The envelope carried the instruction, "not to be opened until three hours after the departure of the Green Flash for Rome."

A youth, known only as Clark, told Mrs. Schreber over the telephone that he and her son had flipped a coin to see which should attempt to stowaway, and that Arthur won.

Lindbergh and Wife See Ocean Hop-Off

Colonel's Honeymoon Yacht Is in Vicinity When Yellow Bird Starts.

Biddeford, Me., June 13 (U.P.).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride were believed today to have seen the take-off of the Yellow Bird for Paris.

The Mouette, the motor yacht on which the famous flier is spending his honeymoon, put into The Pier, a little fishing village near here, this afternoon to refuel.

At 3 p. m., Jim Anderson, keeper at the Goat Island Light, sighted the Mouette coming from an easterly direction, apparently having been cruising in the vicinity of Old Orchard during the day.

The Mouette passed Anderson's station and went to Cape Porpoise, thence to The Pier, where the couple spent over two hours in securing fuel and provisions.

At 5:15 the trim little yacht left the wharf and headed in a westerly direction. It was thought the yacht would probably anchor for the evening at York Harbor or Portsmouth, N. H.

White House Open To Mrs. DePriest

Colored Representative's Wife Attends Mrs. Hoover's Tea.

(United Press.)

Mrs. Hoover had as a guest at tea at the White House yesterday Mrs. Oscar DePriest, wife of the colored representative from Chicago. The other guests at the small party were Mrs. William D. Mitchell, wife of the Attorney General, Mrs. James W. Good, wife of the Secretary of War, Mrs. Arthur M. Free, wife of the California representative, Mrs. Clyde Kelly, wife of the Pennsylvania representative and Mrs. Grace Burton, niece of the Ohio senator, and about twenty others.

The tea party, though the South is much excited about it, was a routine social affair, for the President's wife is entertaining all of the congressional ladies in groups, and Mrs. DePriest came along in her regular order.

The White House last night issued the following statement:

"All the wives and families of all members of the Senate and the House of Representatives have been invited to call at the White House at a series of teas to be given by Mrs. Hoover. No names whatsoever have been omitted from the official list."

Woman Dies of Poison Taken Two Days Ago

Mrs. Blanche Scott, 23 years old, of 215 East Capitol street, died early this morning at Sibley Hospital from the effects of poison taken at her home Wednesday. At the time it was not thought that her condition was serious, but police reported it as an attempted suicide prompted by despondency over domestic troubles.

She was taken to the hospital by her husband, Frederick D. Scott, a clerk with the Potomac Electric Power Co. Police of the Fifth Precinct will notify Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt of her death this morning, but it is not thought that an inquest will be held.

REALLOTMENT BILL SENT TO PRESIDENT

Senate Passes Revised Plan, Ending Eight-Year Contest for House Reform.

CENSUS IN 1930 PROVIDED

(Associated Press.)

The eight-year-old effort for reapportionment of the House of Representatives was terminated successfully yesterday by Senate approval of the revised bill authorizing the 1930 census and reapportionment of House seats on the basis of that census.

It is the first of the four legislative proposals that were recommended to the extra session by President Hoover to be sent to the White House. Senator Jones, of Washington, assistant Republican leader, directed Senate attention to that fact, after it had voted 48 to 37 for the measure as finally formulated in conference with House members.

Elimination by conferees of the Senate and House of the Senate provision placing the 100,000 employes required for taking the census under the civil service was protested before the vote was permitted. Eight Democrats joined the Republican majority in supporting the bill and as many Republicans voted with the Democratic minority against it.

The measure not only authorizes a reapportionment before March 4, 1931, of the House on the basis of the 1930 census, but it also provides for automatic reapportionment of the House after every decennial census.

The bill carries $40,000,000 for the taking of the census and stipulates that the census shall be begun next April 1.

Three Virginia Dry Agents Ambushed

All in Hospital Seriously Wounded After They Fight Off Foes.

Richmond, Va., June 13 (A.P.).—R. S. Durrett, State prohibition officer, B. Gregory, and George Johnson, county officers, were in a hospital here today with what physicians described as serious gunshot wounds received last night from ambush near here.

The officers, who were members of a group of six on their way to raid a still near Richmond, say they received a shotgun fire from a party of negroes as they approached their destination. When they returned the fire, which was at close range, they said another volley of shots came from the opposite direction from a second ambush, after which the negroes retreated.

Officers expressed the opinion that the attack was the result of a frameup, as one of the negroes identified as a member of the firing party had given the information yesterday as to the location of the still.

ALIEN QUOTA REPEAL DENIED BY SENATE

Hoover's Request on Origins Clause Defeated; Reed Leads Opponents.

NYE MOTION FAILS, 37-43

By vote of 43 to 37 the Senate yesterday denied President Hoover's demand for repeal or postponement of the national origins clause of the immigration act. It will now go into effect July 1, under Hoover's proclamation, made compulsory by the law.

Nineteen Republicans, ordinarily stalwart regulars, combined with 24 Democrats to deal this blow to the White House. Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, headed the revolt, while, ironically, Senator Nye (Republican), of North Dakota, championed the President's end of it.

The vote:

For the Nye resolution:

Republicans — 27 — Allen, Bingham, Borah, Burton, Couzens, Deneen, Edge, Fess, Frazier, Glenn, Hebert, Howell, Johnson, Kean, La Follette, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Oddie, Patterson, Schall, Shortridge, Steiwer, Thomas (Idaho), Vendenberg, Walcott.

Democrats—9—Broussard, Copeland, Dill, Hawes, Steck, Wagner, Walsh (Mass.), Walsh (Mont.), Wheeler.

Farmer-labor—1—Shipstead.

Republicans—19—Capper, Cutting, Dale, Gillett, Goff, Goldsborough, Greene, Hatfield, Jones, Kean, Keyes, Moses, Phipps, Pine, Reed, Sackett, Townsend, Warren, Waterman.

Democrats—24—Barkley, Blease, Bratton, Caraway, Connally, Fletcher, George, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Hayden, Heflin, McKellar, Overman, Pittman, Robinson (Ark.), Sheppard, Simmons, Smith, Swanson, Thomas (Okla.), Trammell, Tydings, Tyson.

The vote came on Nye's resolution to discharge the Senate immigration committee from further consideration of the various repeal or postponement measures which it has repeatedly pigeon-holed. Had Nye won, it would have meant that a repeal measure could have been immediately projected on the Senate floor and passed, setting aside the President's unwilling proclamation which now takes effect July 1.

Many Western and Northwestern senators fought it because it sharply cuts down quotas for Scandinavian countries and for Germany. And Scandinavian and German organizations in the West are up in arms about it. Similarly it greatly curtails immigration from the Irish Free State. The biggest gain will be in the British, Welsh, Scotch and Northern Irish quotas.

National Hobo Convention Demands Drastic Reforms

Free Hotel Rooms, Minus Baths, Are Cited as Pressing Need.

Newark, N. J., June 13 (U.P.).—"Hallelujah, give us a handout—"

The old song will live in the hearts of all good hoboes, but like many other outmoded fixtures it now must be shelved in the steady quest for that which is bigger and better.

For the knights of the road, finally aroused to class consciousness by James Eads Howe and Jim Tully, no longer are content with handouts. They are demanding a great many more things.

Out of a string of empty box cars which rolled into the Newark freight yards today poured the delegates to the annual two-day convention of the International Industrial Brotherhood Welfare Association.

In less time than it takes to throw a Mulligan stew together, the convention was called to order by "Dirty Jack" McNamara, of Baltimore, chairman. The convention hall was a city-owned building adjoining a fertilizer factory which had been contributed for the occasion by the Newark Commission of Parks and Public Structures.

"King" Dan was the first to get the floor. The keynote speech was a ringing plea for more hoboes in politics. He invited the delegates to support his candidacy for mayor of New York. If elected he promises to appoint a hobo police chief and thus make New York safe for bums.

The platform committee soon arrived and presented the following, which was adopted viva voce:

"1. Firmly of the belief that there are no bums in the world who are bummer than the bums of the United States, we, in convention assembled, call upon the Government and the people in the Nation, States and cities to bring about certain reforms we consider necessary.

"2. We advocate the construction of bathtubless hotels in every large city of the country to provide free accommodations with every modern convenience to any hoboes applying;

"3. Free meals on demand at any community;

"4. Free transportation on the railroads of the country and death by hanging to all brakemen who apply the boot to the posterior of any traveling hobo;

"5. Wider participations in politics of the Bums of America;

"6. We call upon all and sundry to respect and stand by the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, since they have been the greatest recruiting influence our order ever has had, without depriving us of our necessary shots."

Hoboes Urge 4-Day Week To Cut Unemployment

Newark, N. J., June 13 (U.P.).—A "four-day week" was hailed by the Nation's assembled hoboes tonight as the best remedy yet suggested for solving the unemployment problem.

Delegates at the convention of the International Brotherhood Welfare Association, leading hobo organization, considered many proposals, including abolition of the entire "capitalistic" system, but the four-day week received the most vociferous greeting.

Doctor Urges War On Mental Disease

Campaign Like That Against Tuberculosis Advocated Before Society.

Hospitals throughout the country maintain more beds for mental patients than for any other kind of disease, Dr. D. Percy Hickling, speaking before the Washington Society for Mental Hygiene yesterday, declared. Dr. Hickling recalled that twenty years ago the campaign against tuberculosis began to take active form and pointed out that as a result of the education of the public in regard to this disease, the ravages of the "white plague" have been greatly decreased. An educational campaign of the same kind against mental diseases is needed, he said.

Plans for the establishment of a speakers' bureau, similar to that in other cities, were outlined at the meeting. It is planned to have experts on various mental questions available for talks before mercantile establishments, factories and schools. This will be part of an educational campaign undertaken by the local society as a means of training the laity to pay special attention to children who are backward mentally or show other symptoms of mental disease. A system for such a campaign was outlined by John R. Shilladay, of New York, administrative secretary of the First International Congress on Mental Hygiene.

Dr. Hickling declared further yesterday that insanity is not hereditary. He said that a proper preventive educational program would result in a great decrease in mental cases through special attention to those who might be considered naturally weak mentally.

BISHOPS IN MEXICO AWAIT MASS ORDER

Resumption of Services Is Planned for June 23; Parleys Not Yet Over.

RUIZ AND WALSH CONFER

Mexico City, June 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—All Roman Catholic bishops in Mexico City are prepared today to depart for their diocesan seats in order to be ready to issue orders for the celebration of masses in the churches on Sunday, June 23.

Expectation is general among Catholics here that President Emilio Portes Gil and Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, apostolic delegate, will have reached a satisfactory settlement on the controversy between the church and the Mexican government before that date.

Plans also were initiated today for Archbishop Ruiz to celebrate high mass in the great cathedral in Mexico City and for a gigantic manifestation by faithful Catholics.

Archbishop Ruiz and Bishop Pascual Diaz had a second conference at Chapultepec Castle this afternoon with President Portes Gil. It lasted an hour and a quarter.

Promise Statement Soon.

The prelates came out smiling. In answer to the rapid fire of questions hurled at them by correspondents, the bishop said: "We hope to be able to make an announcement to you within three days."

A short while afterward they received Dr. Edmund Walsh, vice president of Georgetown University, at their residence here.

When President Gil's attention was called today to reports from Washington intimating on semiofficial authority that the controversy between church and state had already been satisfactorily settled, he confined himself to the statement that further conferences were to be held. He left the plain inference that the Washington reports were premature.

"I can not say when the deliberations will be over," he said. "I prefer not to discuss the conferences at the present time. There will be further ones."

"To discuss general principles or details?" he was asked.

Cordiality Is Averred.

"I can only say," he repeated, "that the conferences are proceeding with cordiality and good will on both sides. When they are ended I will have an announcement to make."

Bishop Antonio Guizar y Valencia, of Chihuahua, who is credited by Catholics here with making the present conferences possible, conferred today with Archbishop Ruiz, reporting to him the Pope's latest instructions. Bishop Guizar, it was disclosed, had four conferences with President Portes Gil before his journey to Rome.

These meetings were arranged by Don Manuel Echevirria, wealthy Catholic layman. He procured an interview with the president and arranged for his wife's cousin, the Bishop of Chihuahua, to return from exile and confer with the chief executive. After four meetings, Bishop Guizar and President Portes Gil reached a basis for an understanding as the bishop departed for Rome.

Subsequently Archbishop Ruiz gave out a conciliatory declaration in Washington. In order that there should be no conflict of authority, he wa named apostolic delegate. A spokesman for the archbishop explained today that the usual custom of choosing a foreigner as apostolic delegate was departed from by the Vatican out of consideration for the strong nationalistic psychology of Mexicans.

PERPETUAL CARE—IT COSTS NO MORE

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

THE Senate and House wrangle over farm relief features. The price of wheat sags until not only are the farmers worried, but manufacturers are concerned over the prospect that the farmers may buy fewer automobiles, electric refrigerators and farm implements. Meanwhile untold millions of Chinese are facing starvation.

President Hoover has been told that only a small part of the famine-stricken area—that in Shantung Province—can be reached, partly due to the distance of much of the afflicted territory from the sea, and partly due to lawless conditions along the inland routes over which food for relief would have to be shipped.

He is waiting for the report of the Red Cross expedition now en route to China to study conditions.

But Dr. Wu, the Chinese minister, says that 47,000,000 people are in danger of starvation in territory easily accessible.

Senator Nye, of North Dakota, who has introduced a bill appropriating $200,000,000 to buy wheat to save this situation in China, does not think such an amount would be excessive.

A cablegram to the "China Famine Relief" states that $637,000 (Mexican) worth of grain has been distributed by the American advisory committee in China since the first of the year with no losses from bandits or otherwise save $113 (Mexican) worth of grain seized in a raid on a station at Paotou by starving refugees!

* * * *

"PEOPLE who are hungry will not quibble over the substitution of wheat flour for rice," is the answer of Senator Nye to the contention that these Chinese would no more know what to do with wheat than did the hungry allies during the war know what to do with corn.

"Moreover," Dr. Wu adds to this argument, "the people in this section of China have been growing wheat and eating wheat flour for years."

On February 20, C. R. Bennett, chairman of the American relief advisory committee in Peking, wrote that 7,000,000 Chinese were "facing starvation." In forwarding this information to the State Department, the American Legation cut the etsimate to 4,000,000.

Mr. Bennett also wrote that conditions were worse than in the great famine of 1920-21.

Senator Nye has been getting reports from China which indicate that prospects for the coming harvest are so discouraging as to anticipate continuance of the famine over next year.

REPORTS so far in President Hoover's hands are that the amount of money which could be spent for foodstuffs would not exceed $8,000,000 and might be as low as $4,000,000.

"How much wheat flour would be necessary to keep alive 47,000,000 people?" inquires Senator Nye. He is accepting Dr. Wu's figure as to the people who live in territory easily accessible.

It will take the report of the Red Cross experts now en route to bridge these widely varying estimates of what might be done by a charitable world for China.

* * * *

"BUY a barrel of flour," is the slogan coined for a Red Cross campaign to aid the Chinese by Secretary of Agriculture Henry M. Hyde, as he discussed the problem with a friend over a glass of his favorite beverage. There is nothing exciting in that last word. His favorite beverage is buttermilk, first thickened with cream, and then diluted and given a tang by White Rock.

Gov. Hyde was recalling the old "Buy a Bale of Cotton" movement back in 1914, when the outbreak of the European war faced the South with economic disaster, and President Wilson bought a bale of cotton, at 10 cents a pound, storing it in the White House cellar.

Officially Mr. Hyde has nothing to say on either the price of wheat or the possibility of the Red Cross sending several hundred thousand barrels of flour to China. All through the administration, however, there is a desire to put the whole business of relieving China on a high, humanitarian plane and place as little emphasis as possible on the crying need of the American grain growers to dispose of their surplus.

* * * *

THOUSANDS and thousands of Americans, say friends of Gov. Hyde to whom he has outlined his "Buy a Barrel of Flour" idea, would give $5 to the Red Cross to deliver 196 pounds of flour which might save several lives for an indefinite period.

Ships, a member of the Shipping Board said, could easily be provided so as not to strain the existing steamer lines beyond their capacity. The Shipping Board has approximately fifteen vessels not now in use on the Pacific Coast which could be utilized, and a larger number on the Gulf of Mexico which could take the flour through the Panama Canal and thence to China.

Meanwhile everyone interested is "waiting for the evidence" from the Red Cross experts. Only the waiting is not so good for the Chinese—nor for the wheat farmers.

DAWES AND PREMIER SPEEDING INTERVIEW; SEE VITAL ISSUES

Southampton tomorrow afternoon and spend the night in London. Arthur Henderson will cut short what was to have been a week's holiday, return to London to greet Dawes at the foreign office Saturday morning, and then they will both motor to Windsor Castle where Dawes will present his credentials to the king after Henderson introduces him.

Thus officially recognized as American Ambassador, Dawes will catch the Scotch Mail, one of the fastest trains in Great Britain, that night, and reach the little town of Forres in the Scotch Highlands in time for lunch Sunday afternoon. There are no trains in the pious highlands Sunday excepting the through expresses from the south so there is no train to Ramsay MacDonald's birthplace, the little fishing village of Lossiemouth.

Accordingly, the British premier, also attending service at the Lossiemouth United Free Church, will motor to Forres, 17 miles away, lunch with Dawes there, and talk to him for three hours.

The American Ambassador will then catch the afternoon train back, reaching London Monday morning. The following night he will deliver his first speech in England at the Pilgrims' dinner.

There is every indication that this speech will be of historic importance. At any rate, it is clear that the principal object of Dawes' visit to MacDonald, which was only arranged by wireless late yesterday, is to submit to the premier the text of what he proposes to say, and as this is to be done, it may be inferred that the ambassador is willing to make changes if MacDonald thinks them advisable.

It is also reported that Dawes will transmit to MacDonald a formal invitation from President Hoover to visit the American President at his earliest convenience. If this is true, it is the result of a wireless from Hoover to the Olympic since Dawes sailed. There is no information available on this subject either at the American Embassy here or at the foreign office.

MacDonald, in an interview at Lossiemouth today, showed himself eagerly pleased at the prospect of Dawes' visit. He is quoted as saying, "We shall discuss the great question of Anglo-American cooperation in the cause of disarmament and of permanent peace. We will open up the whole question.

Wants Firm Understanding.

"That determination exists on both sides of the Atlantic to come to a firm understanding is well known. I hope that nothing that human beings can remove will stand in the way of this attainment. My talk with Gen. Dawes will be the most informal thing that has ever happened. In the ordinary course of events it would not be necessary for Gen. Dawes, as the newly arrived ambassador, to see me at once, but the position of affairs is such that both he and I are anxious that there should be no delay in talking over this vital question."

Dawes has set the stage by this striking exhibition of hustle for his speech Tuesday, of which much is expected. Hundreds of applications for tickets from persons eager to hear the speech have had to be refused. No speech by an American Ambassador has ever been awaited with such curiosity or sense of expectancy.

There are reports here that Dawes brings with him proposals under which the United States would not lay down a single ship of the new fifteen-cruiser building program, on condition that Great Britain also stops her cruiser building program and in addition scraps six cruisers now building.

Would Cause Controversy.

If this is true there will be a first-class sensation and violent controversy in this country. It might have been more easy for the late Tory government than for MacDonald's Labor cabinet to consent to anything so drastic, and whether MacDonald would dare to accept the suggested American scheme, or could get it through Parliament if he did accept it, is doubtful.

Since Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson put forward the American "relative values" formula at the preparatory disarmament commision's session at eGneva, the British admiralty has been working on its own formula to devise a yardstick which would produce Anglo-American naval parity. The British and American formulae have never yet been compared. They will, of course, be widely different, and if Dawes is prepared to suggest not merely cessation of building, but weakening of British strength already partially completed, the admirals will be ready with arguments about French and Italian cruiser rivalry in the Mediterranean with weakening of British strength there in relation to other fleets.

It is a fairly safe guess, therefore, that if President Hoover's naval plans are as ambitious as suggested, that MacDonald will beg the American Ambassador to go slow and give the Labor cabinet time enough to study the question with its technical advisers.

CAPITAL TRACTION RENEWS FARE FIGHT valuation, the company said, was $913,812.32, which, it said, is 3.50 per cent return on valuation.

This rate of return, it declared, "was totally inadequate, unreasonable and confiscatory of your petitioner's property and rights under the Constitution of the United States, by reason of which your petitioner has been deprived and is being deprived of its constitutional rights and of the due process of law guaranteed to it by said Constitution."

The company further reminded the new Public Utilities Commission that the old commission, which preceded it, in dismissing the former petition for higher fares had done so with the proviso that the record in the old case shall be permitted to stand and be accepted in any new proceedings the company might institute.

Immediate consideration will be given the fare boost petition, Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the utilities commission, said. Patrick has called a tentative meeting of the commission for tomorrow morning, at which time the commission will formulate its policy.

Although no member of the commission would discuss the matter for publication, it is regarded as certain that the new Utilities Commission will not follow the procedure of its predecessor.

The present valuation of the Capital Traction Co. recognized on the commission books is based on a court valuation as of a date four years past. In addition to that, the valuation of the Washington Railway & Electric Co is one which was made by the commission when it was created, years ago, and which was challenged but never pushed to a decision in the courts. It is agreed that the valuation of the latter company is faulty and should be revised.

Because of these facts, members of the new commission, who are better equipped by training and knowledge than any other utilities commission the District people have had, is expected to order a new valuation of the street car properties before it will consider any question of an increase.

One of the important points which was buried in the company's petition was the reminder that the old commission "stipulated, for the sake of saving time and expense, your petitioner will be permitted to use the record" made in the former effort of the company for increased fares in the present effort, as well as having the privilege of adding whatever it wished to that old record.

Would Throw Off Shackles.

This point does not sit so well with members of the present commission. They are not anxious to throw it into the alley without consideration, but they are anxious that they be not bound by the record of a former commission. They want the privilege of deciding for themselves what shall be and shall not be introduced in the record, both by the companies and by the commission. What the commission will do on this point remains to be decided. The decision probably will not be made until after there has been made a careful study of the old record.

William McK. Clayton, veteran defender of the utilities consumer, as chairman of the Federation of Citizens Associations' utilities committee, swung into action immediately the increased fare petition was filed. He conferred with members of the commission and called at the office of Ralph B. Fleharty, people's counsel.

A special meeting of the Federation of Citizens Associations may be called to consider the matter, Clayton said. There may be a meeting of the executive committee of the federation or only a meeting of the utilities committee. The federation has formally gone on record as opposed to higher street car fares.

Expected to Fight Rise.

The course of the federation, Clayton said, will be determined on by Dr. George C. Havenner, with whom he plans to have a conference as soon as possible. There is little doubt but that the federation will reiterate its former stand and oppose the higher fare asked for by the Capital Traction Co.

In a statement accompanying its petition the Capital Traction Co. cited the increased use of the private automobile as the chief cause of its decline in revenue. The number of automobiles in the District is constantly increasing, Hanna said in the statement, and the number of car riders is decreasing.

Hanna deplored the failure of the merger agreement with its resulting economies, declaring that his company would have been justified in asking for higher fares some time ago and would have done so had it not been for the hope that the merger agreement would be approved and conditions would be bettered. The company, Hanna said, is concerned with giving the best possible service to the public, but had to consider also the interests of its stockholders.

Engineers Association Makes Protest on Rise

Opposition to any increase in street car fare at this time was expressed in a resolution adopted by the Washington Chapter of the American Association of Engineers at its last meeting of the season last night at the Playhouse, 1814 N street northwest.

Should it be found that some increase in net revenues is necessary to secure a fair return on the properties, it should be obtained by a reduction in the 4 per cent gross earning tax now paid in lieu of a franchise tax, the resolution declared.

A resolution also was adopted approving a report on traffic signs of the Engineering Council, and requesting that the signs be made the standards for the District of Columbia. A resolution asking that true consideration be put in deeds in the District of Columbia, in order to aid the assessor in securing equitable assessment of property, was referred to the civic committee for further study.

Dr. F. H. Newell, former chief of the Reclamation Service, gave a descriptive address on an economic survey of conditions in Porto Rico, conducted by him under the auspices of the Brookings Institution of Economic Research. B. G. Goodwin spoke on the recent revolutionary conditions in Mexico, and of the engineering opportunities in that country, from which he recently returned.

Proposed Fare Increase Opposed by Civic Group

Opposition was voiced to a proposal of the Capital Traction Co. for an increase in street car fares last night at a meeting of the Bloomingdale Civic Association, held in the Tabor Presbyterian Church. The association passed a resolution favoring half fares for school children. It also directed its education committee to endeavor to secure ground of the N. P. Gage School for playground purposes during the summer months.

A committee was appointed to visit all colored residents of the 1700 block of First street northwest to interest them in maintaining the block for residential purposes, in opposition to a petition now circulating to change the zoning to first commercial. This committee, consisting of A. R. Ore, Mrs. E. M. Matthews, Edmund Hill, jr. R. A. Tucker and George C. Scurlock, was directed to call a meeting tomorrow at the Tabor Church for discussion of this matter.

Edward F. Harris presided.

Traffic Policeman Nearly Wrecks Bridal Pair's Plans

While attempting to give their brother, Charles West, and his bride, the former Kathryn Sweeney, a rousing send-off into the sea of matrimony last night, Harry West, 27, of 322 Allison street northwest, and Clarence West, of 315 C street southeast, incurred the displeasure of Policeman R. T. Conklin, of the Traffic Bureau, who decided that the sea of traffic at Fourteenth and U streets northwest, was ruffled by this outburst of blaring horns. He steered his course accordingly and, in spite of appeals to his sense of the romantic, awarded tickets to the pair, requesting them to deposit collateral for having made a "loud and unnecesary noise."

As a result of this unromantic prosecution the bridal couple, who were being driven by Clarence, nearly missed their train to Atlantic City, where they will spend their honeymoon.

at 1725 H street northwest and negotiated with the bank for a loan of $16,000 to carry through the purchase.

As collateral for the loan, she states, she put up the stock and, confident in Haynes, indorsed each certificate. Later, she said, she was persuaded by Haynes to join in a stock pool and she stipulated she would do so to the extent of $3,000. She said she received a number of communications from a broker after engaging in the pool but sent these to Haynes unopened. Not until last October, she declared, did she discover that her entire capital was gone and she was notified of an indebtedness to the bank.

Mrs. Chambers asks that a receiver be appointed to recover her money or stock and secure an accounting. In her petition she states that because of her lack of business ability and her confidence in Mr. Haynes, she is now practically penniless, "whereas the defendant is apparently living on the same scale of life that he had been living prior to his resignation as president of the bank, and apparently has funds and property and is a man of means."

High-Tension Wire Fatal to Lineman

William Sullivan, 23-year-old lineman for the Potomac Electric Power Co., living in Rockville, Md., was killed instantly yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock when he touched a high-tension wire while splicing a cable on the electric lines along the main highway in Kensington, Md.

Members of No. 2 rescue squad of the Washington Fire Department, who responded to a call for assistance, worked over Sullivan for nearly an hour without avail. Maryland police said Sullivan's arm came in contact with a high-tension wire charged with 2,300 volts. Fellow workmen saw him collapse and immediately rushed to his assistance, pulled the heavy cable off his body and called police and the rescue squad. His body, burned slightly, was taken to his home in Rockville.

MINORITY PEOPLES WIN LEAGUE FAVOR

Delegates at Madrid Grant Them Better Representation on Committee.

HARMONY RULES SESSION

Madrid, June 13 (A.P.).—The crucial session of the meeting of the League of Nations Council passed off today like a family party.

The mooted question of minorities, which has threatened trouble since the special committee of three prepared a report on the subject in London a few months ago, did not ruffle the amiability of the delegates. They unanimously voted a resolution granting minority peoples better representation on the minority committee of the league and insuring a more careful scrutiny to their petitions.

Gustave Stresemann, German foreign minister, and Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, expressed their sympathy for the cause of European minorities. The British representative, Ambassador Sir George Dixon Grahame, at Madrid, also cast oil on what might have been troubled waters.

The reason generally given for the unforseen geniality of the council season was the possibility that the new Labor government in England would exercise pressure in favor of peace on every occasion.

M. Adachi, Japanese delegate, presented the motion for acceptance of the committee of three's report. It was adopted unanimously, although the Germans and the French made reservations. The recommendations take effect immediately.

POST-FOX CONTEST TO SEEK NEW TALENT

much charm, are transformed into visions of lovliness by the same camera.

The Post-Fox Screen Test Contest will give every one a chance to see whether or not he or she registers well on the silver screen. Those who have "it," as Elinor Glyn describes that certain something so necessary to success, probably will have far better chances of winning than those who possess merely physical beauty.

Furthermore, this contest is not for the good-looking people of Washington alone. It is not limited as to age, for young children and men and women of 90 are eligible to compete. Character actors and actresses are needed by the motion picture industry, as well as beautiful stars, while child actors are always in demand.

"Types" are to be desired. Lon Chaney is one type. Clara Bow is another. Davey Lee is the object of admiration of thousands of mothers and fathers who would like to see their boy in the films. Lupe Velez represents a fiery type. Gloria Swanson appears best when "dressed to kill." Mary Astor gives an impression of cold beauty. Colleen Moore leaves an impression of never-ending pep. George Bancroft is of the rough-and-ready sort. Bill Powell is always an ideal villain. Adolph Menjou persistently gives "gentlemanly" performances. Buster Keaton never smiles. Harold Lloyd develops a different character through the use of his horn-rim glasses.

All these are "type" actors and actresses. Many of them would never win beauty contests. But they are successful in motion pictures. Others may be just as successful.

The Post-Fox Screen Test Contest will determine which of Washington's many thousands have a chance to make good in the films. Full details of the contest will be contained in a full-page advertisement in the Sunday issue of The Post. Do not miss it like a country village on market day. The use of the public highways for private storage of cars, in my opinion, should not be allowed. The present custom is not only a great injury to business, as customers can not stop in front of the stores to make their purchases, but also makes the beautiful avenues and streets of Washington very unattractive.

"There will be no adequate garages in Washington until cars are forced off the streets, which will then make garages pay.

SHAFER URGES QUIZ IN LIQUOR SLAYINGS

Third Killing Is Characterized as "Assassination" by Representative.

TWO AGENTS ARE UPHELD

(Associated Press.)

While the Treasury yesterday declared two of its agents who shot persons in enforcing prohibition were justified in firing, Representative Schafer, (Republican), Wisconsin, characterized the killing of Henry Virkkula as an "assassination" and asked Congress to investigate law enforcement by Federal officers.

Denouncing the slaying at International Falls, Minn., Schafer asserted the "excesive toll" of lives taken by dry agents had "caused the citizens of the Republic to be fearful that their lives may be snuffed out at any time they traverse the public highways."

He asked appropriation of $25,000 to meet the expenses of the proposed investigation.

The Treasury made public orders issued two months ago to prohibition agents by Commissioner Doran which warned them that a prisoner escaping custody was not justification for using weapons. Doran's order was issued after the passage of the Jones-Stalker act, which made transportation or sale of intoxicants a felony.

Assistant Secretary Lowman, in a statement, said investigation of the shooting of Archibald Eugster at Detroit by Jonah Cox, a customs border patrolman, showed that Cox fired in the performance of duty.

The shooting of J. Thompson, of Silver City, N. Mex., by a prohibition officer and a deputy sheriff was upheld by Lowman on the ground that Thompson was caught delivering 10 gallons of whisky and opened fire first upon the officers.

No reports have been received at the Treasury upon the shooting at International Falls of Henry Virkkula by Customs Border Patrolman E. J. White.

The Treasury reiterated yesterday its statement that it could not comply with requests that it disarm its law enforcement officers. It was said that because the officers deal with desperate men their efforts would be impotent without arms.

Kahn Statement Blames 500 Deaths on Dry Agents

Federal, State and county officers have killed 500 civilians in attempting to enforce the prohibition laws in the past nine years, Representative Florence P. Kahn (Republican), of California, declared in a statement submitted in the House yesterday.

Mrs. Kahn said that Federal agents had killed 135 civilians, this total having been compiled by the prohibition unit. While there are no exact figures on the number killed by State and county officers, she said, it is estimated that these would send the grand total up to at least 500.

Mrs. Kahn submitted the figures to go along with a bill which she introduced the day before to pay $25,000 to the family of every civilian killed by Federal enforcement officers.

If the bill should pass, Uncle Sam, under the retroactive provision contained in it, would immediately have to pay out $3,375,000 to indemnify the dependents of the 135 persons killed by Federal officers.

Tariff Notes Are Sent Here by Many Nations

(Associated Press.)

More than a score of communications from foreign governments on the proposed tariff increases now before Congress have been delivered to the State Department during the past month.

During the preliminary discussions before the House ways and means committee considerable material was submitted by the various governments for transmission to the committee. Of late, however, formal representations by the governments themselves against the proposed rates have been delivered almost daily.

The Austrian, Swiss and Uruguayan Legations have filed the latest formal representations. Among other nations from which communications have been received are France, Spain, Norway, Persia, Denmark, Italy and Great Britain, on behalf of the Australian, Bahaman and Bermudan governments.

FARM BILL TO LEAVE SENATE AS TARIFF COMES BURSTING IN

journment the Borah resolution will be taken up immediately the Senate convenes today. As soon as Senator McNary is ready with the conference report on the farm bill, however, he will have right of way. He does expect that it will take more than two hours to get a vote on the farm bill, whereupon the Senate immediately returns to the Borah proposal.

The threat of Speaker Longworth to hold the Senate until it agrees to a definite date for a tariff vote becomes insignificant under the new situation. Before it developed and not taking the House threat seriously, Senate leaders had tentatively fixed the recess to begin June 18 and end August 12, at which time it is figured the finance committee will have finished with the tariff.

In the brief discussion of the Borah resolution, Senator Edge, of New Jersey, suggested that, rather than limit the scope of the committee, the Senate just take the bill away from it and sit as a committee of the whole for tariff hearings. There was an immediate chorus of ayes and "that's right." At first blush there would seem to be no reason for the Democratic-Progressive coalition to oppose this plan.

Line-up Probably Is Close.

As Senator Watson moved about last night to ascertain the line-up on the Borah proposal, the probable line-up on the tariff fight all the way through he must have found to be very close. The Democrats will lose such men as Trammell and Fletcher, of Florida, whose State has been given a tariff mite by the skilled tariff artisans, but they will gain such men as King, who did not vote with them on the original debenture vote. The Progressives, too, will probably lose Couzens, of Michigan, but will gain Capper, of Kansas, as he long ago enunciated the idea that industry must stand still and let agriculture catch up with it in so far as the tariff is concerned.

The size of the House majority against the debenture made the Senate look rather silly after all, although it had insisted, of couse, only on a vote. Thirty-two Democrats voted against the debenture, though all but five or six of these were the "city slickers" among the Democrats, those of the party who want beer instead of farm relief. On the other hand, thirteen Middle Western Republicans voted for it. More than 50 members were absent and not paired.

No debate preceded the vote. Chairman Haugen, of the House agriculture committee, immediately upon the convening of the House, asked the conferees again be named, whereupon Majority Leader Tilson moved that they be instructed to insist upon the elimination of the debenture. It was upon this latter motion that the House members went on record.

The conferees from the two houses will meet this morning, the senators quickly receding, and McNary will then go back to the Senate and ask that they be sustained. Debenture senators have promised that they will be, the House members having gone on record

NORRIS CHALLENGED IN POWER-PRESS QUIZ

Publisher Denies Owning Any Utility Stock; Decries Senator's Privileged Status.

PROPAGANDA PLAN BARED

(Associated Press.)

A heated denial of charges made by Senator Norris in Congress that he was linked with the power industry was made yesterday before the Federal Trade Commission by Ira C. Copley, newspaper publisher, who declared he would take court action if the Nebraskan would repeat his statements off the privileged Senate floor.

The publisher, who testified at the commission's inquiry into utility publicity activities at his own request, issued his challenge to the senator in a statement submitted to the commission. Chairman Edgar A. McCulloch refused, however, to allow Copley to read his statement or to introduce it in the record.

In his testimony, Copley reviewed his former ownership of the Western United Corporation and its subsidiaries, which served rural districts of Illinois with gas and electric power, and explained he had sold his entire $7,470,600 block of securities in that concern when he entered the newspaper publishing field.

He declared that he did not now own a single share of public utility stock.

The other witness at yesterday's session, W. J. Sylvester, of Chicago, secretary and organizer of the Industrial Conservation Board, Inc., described a plan of his organization to utilize newspaper publicity, the lecture platform, radio broadcasting, the schoolrooms and the moving picture screen in a campaign to oppose Government ownership of industries in competition with private interests.

He said this program, most of which had not yet been placed in operation, would cost between $500,000 and $600,000 a year, contributed by big industrial interests of the country.

While asserting he owned no utilities securities, Copley testified that he held in his name 12,500 shares, with a par value of $1,250,000 belonging to his wife, his sister and W. W. Tracy, of Springfield, Ill. He said there also were 50,000 shares held under escrow in a Chicago bank, for which he had paid one-fifth of the purchase price and at present was drawing the dividends.

In concluding his testimony, Copley declared he was "an old-fashioned American citizen" and did not believe "a senator of the United States or an agency of the Government of the United States has a right to injure my reputation or my business by making or publishing reckless and baseless charges affecting me and my business integrity."

Delay Denied State In Strike Hearing

Habeas Corpus Proceedings for Gastonia Men Is Up Today.

Charlotte, N. C., June 13 (A.P.).—Postponement of hearings in habeas corpus proceedings for the release of 13 of the 47 strikers and union officials held in connection with the slayinf of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police, was denied the State by Judge W. F. Harding in Mecklenburg superior court today. The hearings are set before Judge Harding for tomorrow morning.

Solicitor John G. Carpenter asked postponement of the hearings until two patrolmen, who were wounded when Aderholt was fatally shot in a clash last Friday with strikers at Gastonia headquarters of the National Textile Workers Union, would be able to attend.

Tom P. Jimison, Charlotte attorney, appeared for the prisoners and asked that the hearings be held at the original date. He contended his clients had been held in jail unjustly for a week and should be allowed a hearing without further delay.

Thirteen of the 47 held are charged with murder. The prisoners include nine women.

WILL OF MRS. THAW BENEFITS CHARITIES

Churches, Schools, Employes and Friends Remembered in Bequests.

RESIDUE TO CHILDREN

Pittsburg, June 13 (A.P.).—In death, as in life, the helping hand of Mary Copley Thaw, philanthropist, today was extended, through her last will and testament, to various charities and church organizations in the United States and abroad.

No estimate of the value of the vast estate was given in the will filed for probate today. Mrs. Thaw died last week, aged 86 years.

After setting down scores of bequests to relatives, friends, employes, charities, church organizations and schools, Mrs. Thaw's will called attention to the fact that her children—Harry K., Josiah C., Mrs. Alice Thaw Whitney, the former Countess of Yarmouth, and Countess Margaret Carnegie De Perigny—had received large financial legacies from their father. She therefore had determined to administer her own estate during her lifetime and had steadily given to "such benevolent work as providence has, from time to time, indicated."

"Knowing the minds of my children as to this determination," read the will, "I designate no specific sum to any of them and expect to leave, as my residuary estate, little more than enough to provide for payment of my debts and such legacies, bequests and devises as are designated."

The residue of the estate is to be divided as follows: Four-fifths to her children and one-fifth, in three parts, to the Third Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Omaha, Nebr., and to Washington College, Tenn., the latter to be used in maintaining the college as a memorial to a deceased son, Edward.

Mrs. Thaw ordered that the debts of all relatives owed her be canceled or cut in half, and that all debts in excess of $50,000 due her from Harry K. Thaw be canceled.

To Try Long Row.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 13 (U.P.).—Michael Eicher, 40-year-old marine engineer, will renew his attempt to row across Lake Michigan this summer. Eicher is fitting his 14-foot rowboat for the long pull to Grand Haven, Mich., 85 miles away. High waves forced him back last year after he was 18 miles out. That 36-mile trip occupied 12 hours.

RADIO MAN IS KILLED, 7 INJURED IN PLANE

Airway Official, Hurt in Cuba, May Die of Burns; Second Is in Grave Condition.

KELLY FIELD CRASH FATAL

Santiago de Cuba, June 13 (A.P.).—Investigation was begun this afternoon by municipal authorities into the crash this morning of a Ford trimotored plane of the Pan-American Airways, Inc., in which A. E. Griffith, American radio operator, was burned to death. The pilot and mechanic were seriously injured and five passengers bruised and burned, one perhaps fatally.

It was understood municipal authorities attribute the accident to inadequacy of the landing field which, according to extra-official reports, several months ago, was pronounced "small and dangerous—particularly during the rainy season."

The charred body of Griffith was removed from the smouldering wreckage this afternoon and taken to the mortuary pending shipment to Havana.

Gen. Taylor May Die.

Gen. George Taylor, official of the Pan-American Airways, Inc., and former United States Army officer, was severely burned. A physician's bulletin at 3:05 p. m., at the Los Angeles Hospital here, said he might not live. His wife, who escaped serious injury and burns, is in a highly nervous state, but refuses to leave his bedside.

Two other passengers, Earl Graham, Cuban manager of the Detroit Graphite Co., and Lyman Johnson, American resident of Havana, were burned slightly in their heroic rescue work of the Taylors. Pilot W. S. Elmore received severe injuries when he was thrown from the cockpit. His mechanic was also injured. A. W. French, Airway official, was said to be in a serious condition.

The accident occurred shortly after 8 o'clock this morning as the plane was taking off for Havana. The field was muddy and prevented sufficient ground speed for the plane to gain altitude. The landing gear caught in telephone wires, throwing the plane into a tree and to the ground.

Cadet Fliers Collide.

San Antonio, Tex., June 13 (A.P.).—Flying Cadet L. H. Troup, 24, student in the Advanced Flying School, at Kelly Field, was killed, and Flying Cadet Floyd Bernard Wood, 21, escaped death by taking to his parachute, when their planes locked wings over Kelly Field today. The planes fell from an altitude of 6,000 feet, Cadet Troup crashing with his ship.

Cadet Troup's home is in Tulsa, Okla. Wood is from Richland Springs, Tex.

The planes were flying in two three-ship formations. The wings of the planes flown by Troup and Wood came together while the fliers were above the clouds. Officers at Kelly Field had their first intimation of the accident when Wood came down out of the clouds swinging to his parachute.

$100,000 Loan Sought For Semmes Motor Co.

Application for permission of the District Supreme Court to loan $100,000 to the Semmes Motor Co., and accept a second trust deed on 1502-04 Connecticut avenue northwest, was made yesterday by M. Gertrude Semmes and Raphael Semmes, trustees of the estate of Charles W. Semmes, former president of the motor company. The Connecticut avenue property is already subject to a first trust of $162,500, it was stated.

Through Attorneys Roger J. Whiteford and Harry C. Clark, the petitioners stated that the interests of the beneficiaries under the estate will be served by the loan and declared the estate contained a large holding of the company's stock and is largely dependent on the success of the company. The trustees also stated that the court has allowed previous aid to the company by the estate. The beneficiaries under the will were named defendants.

Old Coachman, Sorry For Drinking, Is Freed

Accused of intoxication, Charles Washington, colored, an old fashioned coachman, was brought before Judge Robert E. Mattingly in Police Court yesterday and accused of getting intoxicated in the vicinity of the House Office Building.

"I'm just ashamed of myself, Your Honor, for getting drunk where all them congressmen could see me. I drank a whole quart and I just couldn't get any further down the street. I'm mighty sorry," the coachman explained. "Don't you know that such an action will probably reflect on some of those men on Capitol Hill? We can't have that for there's enough trouble up there now," the magistrate said and then freed Washington on a six-month suspended sentence.

How Poisons Injure the Bladder

The kidneys discharge much poison from the body through the urine. Digestive or eliminative disturbances often load the urine with irritating acids and poisons which injure the bladder tissues and cause severe suffering. Mountain Valley Mineral Water from Hot Springs, Ark., is a valuable aid in preventing and treating bladder injuries. Doctors prescribe it; a prominent doctor has said: "There is no better water in the world for ailments of the bladder and kidneys." Phone for a case today. We deliver.

FORMER STATE BANK OFFICER IS ARRESTED

F. H. Warder, of New York, Faces Charges of Accepting Gratuities.

REFUSES TO SIGN WAIVER

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—Frank H. Warder, former State superintendent of banking, was arrested this afternoon on three warrants signed by Supreme Court Justice James C. Cropsey on criminal charges growing out of an investigation of the failure of the City Trust Co.

It is charged that he accepted gratuities and fees for discharging his public office and that he failed to discharge his duties properly in that he did not order an examination of the City Trust books for the year ended last November.

Justice Cropsey signed the warrants after reading eight depositions by witnesses who have testified at the Moreland investigation and three informations signed by Commissioner Moses.

The deposition had to do in large part with charges that Warder, as bank superintendent, received money from the late F. M. Ferrari, president of the City Trust, and permitted Ferrari to pay rent on the Warder apartment and furnish it, and to pay the passage for an ocean journey of Mrs. and Miss Warder.

Because he refused to sign a waiver of immunity Warder has not been asked to testify at the Moreland Commission hearing.

JURORS ACQUIT GIRL IN ANNOYER'S DEATH

Young Woman of Mountains Freed After She Slew Shop Keeper.

COURTROOM IN TURMOIL

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 13 (A.P.).—Eva Cofer, Tennessee mountain girl who killed Lee Atchley, Georgetown merchant, with a wagon spoke to avenge an insult, was acquitted by a jury today amid a turbulent courtroom scene. Despite a warning from the bench, scores of the 700 spectators in circuit court rushed forward to congratulate the 21-year-old slayer. Officers surrounded the girl to prevent enthusiastic friends from injuring her in the crush.

Miss Cofer killed Atchley two weeks ago after he was alleged to have attempted to embrace her in his store. Testifying at her trial which began yesterday, the girl admitted administering the fatal blow, but said that she did not know what she was doing. She said she would rather die than lose her character.

When the verdict was returned today, the girl sobbed for a few moments, but quickly regained her composure

YOUTH SLEW FIANCE AND SELF, VERDICT

Coroner's Jury in New Jersey Deaths Finds Case One of Murder and Suicide.

THREATENING NOTE READ

Moorestown, N. J., June 13 (A.P.).—A verdict of murder and suicide was returned tonight by the coroner's jury after an inquest into the deaths of Ruth Mowday Wilson and Horace Roberts, jr. The bodies, with bullet wounds in the head, were found in Miss Wilson's bedroom on the night of June 1.

The jury, composed of five men and one woman, found that Roberts had shot the girl to death and then ended his own life while temporarily mentally deranged. Horace Roberts, sr., the young man's father, said the verdict was "a just one" and one that he had expected.

From the outset of the investigation, which was started after Roberts and Miss Wilson, both members of prominent families, were found mortally wounded, Burlington County authorities had contended that it was a case of murder and suicide.

Approximately 40 witnesses were examined during the inquest. Testifying before the coroner's jury, Dr. William Wadsworth, coroner's physician of Philadelphia and an expert on gunshot wounds, expressed the belief that Roberts' wounds were self-inflicted. He said powder marks were found on Roberts' head, indicating that the bullets had been fired at close range.

A revolver, found under Roberts' right hand on the bed was identified as his younger brother's.

A letter written by Miss Wilson on the eve of the tragedy, in which she told how Roberts had threatened both their lives with a pistol, was read before the jury. The letter was furnished by Mrs. Mary Hoopes, of Chambersburg, Pa., with whom Miss Wilson lived when she was a student at Wilson College. Mrs. Hoopes said she had received it after she had learned from Miss Wilson that her engagement to Roberts had been broken.

The letter, the only written record of the severance of the romance which it is believed caused Roberts to shoot Miss Wilson and kill himself, was introduced after the breaking of the engagement had been described by the young woman's father, John O. Wilson, Camden financier; her mother, Mrs. Orella Wilson, and her married sister, Mrs. Helen Collins.

cians testified he was sane, but his "makeup" was psychopathic.

Throughout the trial of three days Campbell steadfastly held to his story that he remembered nothing of the slaying, nor of the events that preceded it for many hours. He said he remembered making some of the statements contained in his confession, but did not recall admitting he slew the woman.

A story of financial reverses which had driven him from a position of comparative wealth to poverty was brought out in court. Illness caused him to take to narcotics, according to the testimony of the young woman he married legally in Chicago about fifteen years ago and who is the mother of his three children.

Under the name of Close, Campbell once operated a medical sanitarium in Montclair. He posed as a physician in New York and became engaged to several women there at one time. He had been married legally a number of times, one of his wives dying and another disappearing after leaving for Australia.

The prisoner admitted on the witness stand that he served terms in Folsom Prison, California, and Auburn, N. Y., for embezzlement.

The advertisement that resulted in his meeting with Mrs. Mowry stated he was a physician and not averse to meeting a woman with money. His confession told of bringing the woman to Baltimore in an effort to raise $1,000 to repay her the savings she had entrusted to him.

He married her in Elkton, Md., and drove north in his automobile when she insisted that he make a home for her. Campbell said he told her he had a wife and three children, but she remained adamant. Night fell and Campbell drove aimlessly northward through New Jersey. Mrs. Mowry met death not far from Campbell's home. She was shot and the body was found after being drenched in gasoline.

Pets Aboard Transports Perplex Quartermasters

Pet parrots are popular in Panama. Maj. Gen. B. F. Cheatham, quartermaster general of the Army, made this discovery recently when he yielded to the earnest plea of an Army woman that she be permitted to bring her pet parrot along on a transport. Theretofore the rules of the Army Transport Service had barred all pets from these vessels.

Shortly after he had bent the rules and permitted one pet parrot to go aboard a transport Gen. Cheatham was deluged with similar requests. The result is that Gen. Cheatham must either set aside a special compartment on Army transports for the housing of parrots and other pets or harden his heart and enforce the old rules with renewed vigor.

DEBENTURE POLITICS.

Debenture senators who insisted that the House should pass judgment upon that nostrum should be gratified by the fact that the House left no doubt as to its judgment. It turned down the debenture provision by a vote of 250 to 113. The vote against debenture was swelled by 34 Democratic votes, while only 12 Republicans voted to retain the debenture in the farm bill.

Several senatorial champions of the debenture scheme have hastened to state that they will drop it now, so far as the farm bill is concerned. Having failed to destroy the farm bill, they now pin their hopes upon attaching the debenture scheme to the tariff bill. They confidently predict that debenture will win more Senate votes as a tariff monstrosity than it received as a malignant growth upon the farm relief bill. Maybe they are right—the Senate is no longer either Republican or Democratic. Party responsibility has given place to personal opportunism, and it may be that the little band of marplots will gain recruits who are tempted to betray their parties for personal advantage.

But the debenture plan will not remain in the tariff bill. The House vote predetermines the end of the forthcoming tariff struggle. Whatever disagreement may arise between the Senate and House over tariff legislation, it is evident that no mongrel majority in the Senate can jam the debenture plan down the throats of 250 members of the House. From now on the Republican infidels in the Senate will be foolishly attempting to pass off a corpse as a living thing. They can postpone burial of the noisome cadaver, but they can not restore it to life by any injection of sophistry or legislative trickery.

The action of the House holds up the Senate coalition to public contempt and ridicule. Thanks to the House, the Nation's business goes forward in spite of stupidity and malice as combined in the Senate coalition. The senators who repelled with indignation the "cowardly charge" that they were playing politics in supporting the debenture plan are made somewhat ridiculous by Senator Brookhart's exposure of the scheme to develop a third party out of the controversy. Mr. Brookhart shows that the dangling of the debenture fraud before the eyes of the farmers is politics, and nothing else; and, being in the business himself, he promptly nominates himself for President on the new progressive ticket. The other so-called Republican debenturites must now wrest the crown of leadership from his bulging brow before they can hope to match strength with Herbert Hoover in 1932. When senators of that stripe enter a contest with Senator Brookhart, hoping to outdo him in fantastic schemes for raiding the Treasury in order to win the farmer vote, they are outclassed from the start.

OREGON'S FOREST LAW.

Private forestry in the United States is seriously handicapped by taxation. Land which is devoted to growing timber is generally taxed on the same basis as land planted to corn, cotton, wheat and other annual crops. Obviously this discourages the planting of timber, because the owner can not afford to pay an annual tax on a crop which takes many years to mature.

The Legislature of Oregon has adopted a measure which promises to give the private forester relief. It calls for immediate classification of forest lands in the State by the board of forestry. All lands which are more suitable for timber production than for other crops will be designated as reforestation areas. So far as these lands are concerned the property tax will be abolished, and instead their owners will pay a 5-cent fee per acre annually and a 12½ per cent yield tax. Provision is made whereby new land may be brought under the forest tax law. But owners of forest land who contract with the State to take advantage of the lower taxes must also agree to use the land in question for growing trees for a definite period sufficient in length to allow the crop to mature. Permits from the board of forestry would be necessary for removing any timber crop.

If the United States is to have an ample timber supply for the future much more privately owned land must be put to work growing trees. The rapid depletion of forests is a problem that can not be left to the Federal Government. Any step which will encourage landowners to plant forests on areas unproductive of other crops is a step in the right direction. The Forest Service regards the Oregon law as an important contribution toward solution of the general problem. In theory it appears to be sound. Operation of the law during the next few years will be full of interest for the States with forestry problems.

PUT IN TRAFFIC LIGHTS.

It is doubtful whether an automobile traveling at 22 miles an hour is any less potentially dangerous than an automobile driven at 30 miles an hour. It is easy to prove that the vehicle proceeding at the lesser speed can be halted a split second quicker, but the pedestrian finds it as hard to dodge the slower as the faster vehicle. For this reason it may be doubted that Traffic Director Harland's plan to reduce the speed of automobiles in Connecticut avenue to 22 miles per hour will make the dangerous Albemarle street intersection any safer. In view of the fact that several accidents have occurred at this point, more drastic safety measures should be taken.

Probably the most dangerous point in Washington until recently was Dupont Circle. The traffic flow around the center park is heavy and continuous, and the concentration of pedestrians, particularly children, in the park is great. The light installation that was placed in the circle, designed primarily for the protection of pedestrians, has made Dupont circle the safest point in the District. Washington should have learned a lesson from the successful functioning of this system.

The danger that lurks in the Albemarle-Connecticut intersection would be obviated by the installation of traffic lights. Slowing down the speed of Chevy Chase-bound traffic would not lessen the danger to any considerable degree, and it would work hardship on the thousands of Washingtonians who live in that section.

In addition, the slowing down of traffic in the present 30-mile zone may create a backwash that will be felt throughout the length of Connecticut avenue. Traffic lights should be installed at the Albemarle street intersection.

STREET CAR FARES.

During the street railway merger hearings, officials of the Capital Traction Co. said on several occasions that the future prosperity of their property depended upon either the merger on an increased fare. Yesterday the threat of an increased fare became tangible, when the company petitioned the Public Utilities Commission for a 10-cent cash fare and four tokens for 30 cents in place of the present 8-cent cash fare and six tokens for 40 cents. By the filing of this petition, the street railway problem becomes the most important to confront the new public utilities commission, particularly in view of the fact that the commission is asked to order all other street railway companies of the District to become parties to the proceedings.

Two rates of fare on District street railway lines are unthinkable. The company charging the lesser rate would have an unfair competitive advantage over the others. But the situation in respect to local street railway companies is awkward in that the Capital Traction Co. claims that it has been earning less than a fair rate of return under the present tariff, whereas the Washington Railway & Electric Co. has no complaint to offer and does not particularly care to see the fare rates raised. What is to be done? The Capital Traction Co. must have larger revenues, so it says, if it is to survive. Fares can not be increased for it alone. If fares are increased for both lines, the Washington Railway & Electric will earn more than it is entitled to.

The utilities commission, of course, will consider the petition filed by Capital Traction and decide whether or not fare rates are to be increased upon the merit of the arguments presented by counsel for the roads. It is to be hoped, however, that some way will be found to prevent an increase of fares on any public conveyance in this District.

PROHIBITION OF WAR.

War has long been recognized as one of the foremost afflictions of mankind. Ceaseless energy has been expended in trying to make the world safe against its ravages. Yet the remedy is so simple; it is surprising that it has not been adopted before. All that is needed is an amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting war. The Women's Peace Union has hit upon the solution of this problem.

This organization has seized upon the Kellogg pact for renunciation of war as an argument for abolition of the Army and Navy. Because the Constitution provides for an Army and Navy, they find that "the seeds of war are embedded" in it. These pernicious seeds, they say, must be eradicated before we can take the legal sanction from war. So they have prepared an amendment providing that war for any purpose shall be illegal, and neither the United States nor any State, Territory, association, or persons subject to its jurisdiction shall prepare for, declare, engage in or carry on war or other armed conflict, expedition, invasion or undertaking within or without the United States, nor shall any funds be raised, appropriated, or expended for such purpose." All conflicting articles of the Constitution would be rendered void and Congress would be given generous power to carry out the pacifist policy.

Senator Frazier has laid the proposed amendment before the Senate. The peace treaty, he says, is a solemn pledge to renounce war for all purposes, but to give full legal sanction to the expression of sentiment back of this treaty we must amend the Constitution. Now that the United States has agreed not to make war on other nations, it must abolish the power to make war.

In the days when the Constitution was drafted, it was considered honorable to fight in defense of the country if necessary. But pacificism knows nothing of honor. Its objective is to destroy armed force in the United States, and it matters little to its advocates that the Government itself would be destroyed in the process.

IMPORTANCE OF BEAUTY

By GEORGE B. FORD,
In the New York Herald Tribune.

The "Tin Lizzie," effective but crude, butt of America's jokes, has been forced to give way to the streamline Model A that no one yet has dared nickname. Popular demand now insists on looks as well as service.

Not many years ago one locomotive company discovered that another works was getting most of the international orders, whereupon the chief designer decided to try a streamline locomotive. The effect was immediate and the company which first featured appearance in their locomotives won the foreign orders even at a higher price.

In many of our latest airplanes and radio sets the makers find attractive lines and good color pay. Even our bridges, our factories, our furniture, our utensils—one and all have improved vastly in appearance in the last few years.

We have found that the mere machine, however efficient it may be, does not satisfy the soul. It is proving only too true that "Man can not live by bread alone." In a flood of recent novels we have been shown graphically what drab, barren, uneventful lives we live. Yes, most of our towns are colorless and anything but inspiring, and so perhaps a wistful longing comes over us to recapture some of the beauty life seemed to promise in the fascinating years of childhood.

The hard-headed practical business man may decry whatever savors of beauty as something effeminate. Yet that same man often insists on good-looking furniture, a beautiful etching or painting in his office, or he spends much time picking out just the right cravat or a new spring suit. He gets away as soon as he can to go to a beautiful golf course, and for his vacation he goes to the mountains, or the shore, or the woods, where nature is most perfect.

The demand for beauty is innate, and while a certain Puritanical holdover and a childish expression of red-bloodedness may induce us to repress outwardly our need for beauty, nevertheless, it is there waiting for release. All that was needed was that good looks should become "the thing."

The turning point has come. Today beauty is no longer looked at askance. Today we can insist on attractiveness in our surroundings without being thought queer. No longer do we have to make our towns merely safe, healthy and convenient. Openly we can make them attractive as well.

However, that which appeals to the eye, that which is really attractive does not just happen of its own accord. It is rarely accidental. Beauty is not a cosmetic, just applied to a building or town. It is not superimposed by planting geraniums or putting filigreed ornaments on lamp posts. Beauty is more than skin deep. It is fundamental and basic in the design of any object.

WORDS.

By Grenville Kleiser.

Words, words, words, words—
Words that come in endless herds!
Words in print and on the lips,
Words like stately moving ships;
Words of bitterness and pain,
Words that have a selfish strain;
Words of ostentatious show,
Words to make a friend or foe;
Words that stray like witless sheep,
Words destroying peace and sleep;
Words of bombast, words austere,
Words that spread disease and fear;
Words of every length and hue,
Words that threaten and pursue;
Words as sharp as two-edged sword,
Words that stride like stately lord;
Words like an engulfing wave,
Words that harass and enslave;
Words by talkers misapplied,
Words in millions multiplied;
Words, words, words, words—
Words that come in endless herds!

Words, words, words, words—
Words like flocks of singing birds;
Words of myriad types and kinds,
Words that rest our tired minds;
Words as fragrant as spring flowers,
Words that fall like summer showers;
Words bespeaking truth and grace,
Words the pride of English race;
Words that stream from pen and voice,
Words to make the heart rejoice;
Words like music of the spheres,
Words of scholars, statesmen, seers;
Words otiose, grandiloquent,
Words on secret mission sent;
Words as fleet as eagle's fly,
Words that please the ear and eye;
Words diffusing sweetness, light,
Words of majesty and might;
Words that gleam and glow and shine,
Words expressing love divine;
Words, words, words, words—
Words like flocks of singing birds!

Words, words, words, words—
Words that storm like phalanxed herds!
Words of sesquipedalian length,
Words that smite with giant strength;
Words of gossip, scandal, crime,
Words that all besmirch with slime;
Words of wrath and want and woe,
Words iconoclastic low;
Words provocative and rash,
Words that kill like lightning flash;
Words of bitterness and strife,
Words that menace human life;
Words of plunder, words of greed,
Words that sow rebellion's seed;
Words like booming ocean's roar,
Words that to Olympus soar;
Words of violence and sin,
Words in deadly deafening din;
Words in surging maddening rush,
Words that overflow and crush;
Words, words, words, words—
Words that storm like phalanxed herds!

PRESS COMMENT.

Anyway.

Indianapolis News: At any rate, Al Capone has a permanent address for a while.

Poor Farmers.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Bread is the staff of life, but the farmer has little to lean on in his wheat crop.

Ifs.

Glen Elder Sentinel: If you wear a petticoat the latest fad is to match your petticoat with your hose, if you wear hose.

Fools Rush In.

Cincinnati Enquirer: President Gil says he is willing to discuss the religious question, which certainly proves that he's a rash person.

How Come?

Glovers Leader Republican: Contrary to general expectation, the country seems to be worrying along fairly well without a prize-fight champ.

Good Plan.

Atlanta Constitution: The New York man who advertised for ideas to spend $10,000,000 has just sailed for Europe. Wonder who suggested the plan?

Is There Any?

San Diego Union: Augustino Sandino, the Nicaraguan general, is to seek safety in Mexico. A lot of Mexican generals will be greatly interested if he finds any.

Probably.

Bethlehem Globe: Secretary Wilbur thinks civilization is built on oil, but maybe it just seems that way because he has noticed some evidence of skidding.

Bill's New Role.

New Orleans Times-Picayune: "Bill Hart is now in the talkies." He will do his own speaking now and not depend on his two guns to talk for him, as heretofore.

Two Good Reasons.

Atchison Globe: As long as a man is partisan he can't help being putrescent at times. We so remark for two reasons: We think it is true. And we wanted to try a new word.

Ought to Be a Law.

Springfield Union: We see by the papers that a Boston bootlegger has been selling liquor to little children, and—not that we wish to seem overpuritanical—it seems to us that there ought to be a law against it.

Such Disillusionment.

Kansas City Star: G. F. C. tells of the girl in his home town who took a mail order husband on the representation that he was a wealthy clubman, and then discovered that he belongs to the Book of the Month Club.

Movie Troubles.

Los Angeles Times: Now that the movies are also the talkies there is a lot of trouble in fitting the pictures to this great big world. At some of the studios the big idea is to fix the stage or setting the way it is needed for the scene and then run five different companies through the action. This would give them the dialogue in English, French, German, Spanish and Italian, and permit them to reach most of the earth's film fans.

Rocking Chairs.

Baltimore Sun: Rocking chairs will not have a place of honor at the furniture style show in Chicago. Indeed, the director remarks that the whole tribe of them are headed for extinction, and immediately one thinks of the old days when respectable citizens sat erect and immovable, while only the undignified patronized the lazy rocker. Is the present trend toward any such Spartan rigidity? It may not seem so, and yet those who think that standards of behavoir are immutable can hardly deny it. The rocking chair was definitely scorned by the conservative as effete and sybaritic. Therefore the abandonment of it marks a return to simplicity. That's logic.

Great Men Solve Great Problems by Doing the Sensible and Obvious Thing.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MANY of our national ills can be traced to the fact that government seldom exercises ordinary common sense.

Government is the biggest business in America—the most essential, the most vital. Common sense would insist that it employ the ablest men to be found. And yet the business remains almost wholly at the mercy of mediocre men because the wages it offers are insufficient to attract the best.

Recently the President had need of a board chairman and asked Congress for authority to pay any salary that might be required to get the right man.

The authority was refused and the salary limit was placed at $12,000—which means the President must find a$12,000-man to handle a job that urgently needs the abilities of a $50,000 man.

There is a comforting theory that big men are patriotic enough to quit $50,000 jobs and do Government work for much less, but that seldom is true. Government gets what it pays for and no more. Would the President ask a $5 man to quit his job and do Government work at $2? Is any man patriotic enough to do it?

Common sense doesn't expect first-class service at a second-class price.

Consider the matter of transportation.

The Southern planter buys hay from Michigan and the freight charge is more than the original cost of the hay. The New Jersey merchant buys apples from Puget Sound and peaches from Georgia, and the transportation charge passed on to the consumer is more than the growers got for their fruit at the orchard.

The cost of distribution doubles the cost of living, and common sense urges the development of inland waterways because water transportation is cheaper than any other. But common sense has no influence and special interests have lobbyists.

The farmer cries for relief. He has a surplus for export. And while he tries in vain to find a market for his surplus, that same commodity is being imported from other countries to compete with him in the home market.

If it is desirable to benefit the farmer at the expense of consumers, common sense would place a prohibitive import duty on every commodity he has for sale and thus protect him in a monopoly of his market.

Consider the air service. Nobody would suggest placing a trained Navy man at the head of the Army or a cavalry expert at the head of the Navy. Yet Navy, Army and Marine heads control separate units of the air service and each unit jealously guards its independence.

Common sense would consolidate the air forces in a department having no other interests or responsibilities, but common sense has no voice in a republic.

A republic makes progress slowly because wise men and fools have equal authority and the wise must compromise.

Few problems would remain unsolved if some sensible man—like Foch—had unlimited authority to solve them.

RUSSIAN MARRIAGES.

Marriage in Soviet Russia may be contracted in two ways: By registration and by free consent. Both have binding legal validity.

Registration calls for the following procedure: The parties appear before a magistrate (no previous notice is necessary) and make a declaration of their desire to be married. The only question asked by the authorities, writes Anker Kirkeby, in Politiken, Copenhagen, is: "Do you know if your prospective husband (or wife) is sound in health?" The answer being satisfactory, the marriage is registered and is ipso facto an accomplished fact.

"Free" marriages are entered into without official registration: The parties simply declare themselves married. But both the man and the woman have the same legal responsibilities as in the case of a registered marriage. Proof of their union can always be secured; it can be shown that they have lived together as man and wife, or a third party can be found to whom they have represented themselves as being married.

A marriage may be dissolved whenever one of the parties wish it; no cause or reason need be given. But the husband is obliged to provide for the support of his wife for six months following the separation; if she is in poor health or otherwise unable to support herself, he must continue to provide for her for a full year.

Every woman more than 45 years old is included in this latter category. When the woman is the one who earns the most, or if the man is ill and unfit for work, it is she who must pay for his support during the prescribed period following a divorce.

No difference is recognized between the children of registered marriages and those of a free marriage. There are no "illegitimate" children in Russia—all are equally legitimate.

INDIANS.

One sees the Indians (of India) at their best during religious pilgrimages. They come in family groups, usually: Papa, maman et bebe. The streets, says Sir John Campbell in the Atlantic Monthly, are lined with thousands of small booths, and the happy crowd pushes round the popular stalls in an unending flux and change. It is like a bed of flowers swayed by a wind. Behind the shops creaks, everlastingly, the merry-go-round; four uncomfortable little square boxes are hung to four rough dressed wooden arms, and the owner grinds perspiringly at a crank that turns the crazy contraption round and round, while the children in the boxes squeal and shriek with joy. The crank man is naked to the waist, and his bronze muscles ripple and bulge in the sunlight. Everything is incredibly cheap—and incredibly nasty.

A fair of this kind requires a good deal of arrangement. Cholera is a specter one can not ignore. Sweepers have to be collected from towns often hundreds of miles distant, and special police have to be provided.

The plausible stranger of their own casts, who marks down the prosperous family party and persuades them to eat the sweetmeats he provides—sweetmeats containing the deadly dhatura—is a standing feature of every big fair. He is a professional poisoner, and often reaps a rich harvest. He robs his victims as soon as they are dead or unconscious—little he cares which—and disappears again into the countless millions of India.

And so special police, knowing some of these men by sight, are posted on all roads and at all the stations; the roads to and from the fair are patrolled by mounted and unmounted men; and the "criminal tribes" within striking distance are held firmly at their own settlements.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Senator La Follette Invited to Explore and Ventilate Executive Sessions of Federal Reserve Board.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Now that young Fighting Bob, worthy son of a worthy sire, has succeeded in his efforts to let light in on the proceedings of the Senate in its executive sessions, it is to be hoped that he will use his talents to get the public some information as to what happens in the executive sessions of the Federal Reserve Board.

In seems that the bankers who constitute the board are not so loquacious as senators or the Senate's employes. They do not derive any profit from letting the people know about the divergent views.

A senator's innermost thoughts when dealing with the Nation's secret affairs of great moment can easily be probed by Washington newspaper correspondents, but when it comes to a question of dollars and cents and to getting information as to who is to get a loan of the people's money and if so at what per cent, the correspondents find their quick-witted heads butting a stone wall.

Senator Glass says the Federal Reserve act was carefully designed to prevent the flow of banking credit to speculators in Wall street. He should know. He is father of the act. Nevertheless, these speculators have got control of over $5,000,000,000 of this credit. The senator could not, of course, foresee that mutiny would occur and that a high officer of the American financial fleet would defy the country's high financial command and the expressed will of the country's representatives in Congress and go unscathed.

There is good stuff for newspaper men in this situation if they will ferret it out.

Here also, I repeat, is another man-sized job for young Fighting Bob.

WILLIAM McENTEE.

Why Is the United States Flag Trimmed With Yellow?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Army regulations describe the American flag as we revere it—red, white and blue—but on page 6 it is provided that "both regimental colors and standards will be trimmed on three edges with a knotted fringe of silk 2½ inches wide. The color of the fringe will be yellow."

I was very much surprised when witnessing a division of the Army on parade on the Ellipse on a day in April, 1928, to see two flags edged with yellow fringe, carried by the United States Army. As the flags hung limp the red, white and blue was almost completely hidden under the display of yellow fringe.

Is it possible that flags carried by the National Guard and the Army throughout the United States and its possessions are trimmed with yellow fringe? Small flags trimmed with half-inch cotton fringe are sold in 5 and ten cent stores and other small shops. Is this lawful and patriotic? What red-blooded American would take the pledge of allegiance to the flag trimmed with yellow fringe? What inspiration would an American soldier get following a flag edged with 2½-inch yellow fringe, when crossing a shell-torn battlefield?

Is there any yellow in the Constitution? Has this Government ever shown the slightest trace of "yellow?" The flag is the emblem of the Government, and as stated on page 3, Army Regulations, "the national flag represents the living country and is considered as a living thing, the Union being the honor point." Was there ever a poem written or a song about the flag with yellow in it?

Who is responsible for the yellow in our flag? What authority put it there?

I have a letter from an Army officer of high rank and standing in which he says, "I think you are absolutely right; that any official flag of the United States should have no fringe or other colors than red, white and blue." MRS. L. M. L. CLEMENTS.

Speed of Twelve Miles an Hour Suggested as Safeguard to Pedestrians.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Considerable of the time of Congress and the District officials, as well as many millions of dollars, are being expended in the pursuit of legislation with "teeth" to protect the drinking individual from himself, whereas it seems that mankind will be better served by the passage of a law with "teeth" to protect the walking individual from the careless motorist. The tragic death of little Ann Woolard is just one more case of manslaughter for which no one will pay a penalty.

The passage of a measure setting twelve miles an hour as a maximum in this city, with the proviso that in the event of a fatality, and it can be proven that the driver exceeded twelve miles per hour, he is then immediately adjudged guilty of manslaughter, would prove a Godsend to all.

If the thousands of Washington motorists could have stood by the bedside of that little innocent girl last night and shared the agony of her parents as she moaned away her last few hours, there is not one of those thousands but who would agree that speed within city limits is horribly unnecessary.

It would appear to be money well spent to educate the people to the fact that at 12 or 15 miles an hour they can leave the business section of the city and reach the suburban area within seven or eight minutes of the schedule under the present speed regulations, and at the same time enjoy the comfort of knowing that the trip did not exact the toll of some innocent young life. Too Much Money Given to Institutions That Are Already Rich.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The papers are full of news about great donations to colleges, hospitals, and other institutions. It seems to me that our rich men could show a little more originality in their giving; that they should moderate the flow of their wealth into the coffers of institutions already plethoric with money, and that they should turn their attention to institutions that are just as deserving as the richer and better known institutions, and far needier.

Kin Accompany Noted Explorer On Canada Trip

Col. Powell, Now Resident of Capital, Seeks Data for New Book.

By JEAN ELIOT.

ONCE upon a time Col. Alexander Powell, explorer, war correspondent and writer of travel books, brought out a volume entitled "The Last Frontier." That was "22 books back," but ever since he has been seeking new frontiers and has even now embarked on a voyage of discovery in Canada, where he feels the last frontier on this continent is to be found. He is accompanied by Mrs. Powell and their daughter, Miss Betty Powell.

When they returned to this country last autumn after a long sojourn in Central Asia, the fruit of which was Col. Powell's latest book, "The Last Home of Mystery," the Powells decided they would settle down in Washington and bought a house in Chevy Chase, appropriately named "Journey's End." It is filled with fascinating souvenirs of years of travel over the face of the globe and already Mrs. Powell's pleasant drawing rooms have come to be a favorite gathering place for writers and kindred spirits. Henceforth the Powells expect to spend the spring and autumn in Washington.

Although she is still very young—she doesn't look more than 17—Miss Betty Powell has achieved distinction in a field remote from her father's and yet related to it through the insight she has acquired from extended travel. She lectures on international politics. She was the youngest speaker on the platform when on a lecture tour last winter.

The Powells, who started yesterday for Canada, will be absent three months, and their travels will take them from Labrador to the Yukon through such storied country as the Hudson Bay region and the Great Slave Lakes. The trip is being made under auspices of the Canadian railway lines, in order that Col. Powell may gather material for still another travel book, the tale of Canada's past and present.

Mrs. Hoover Entertains On White House Lawn.

Mrs. Hoover drew "queen's weather" for her garden party yesterday in compliment to the members of the League of Republican Women and tea tables were laid on the tree-shaded lawn. Guests were limited to members of the organization, of which Mrs. E. A. Harriman is president.

The Vice President, Mr. Charles Curtis, is expecting a visit from his daughter, Mrs. Charles P. George, and her two children at the end of next week. They will pass the summer at Sconset on Nantucket Island and will be joined there later in the season by Maj. George, who is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

The British Ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard will leave today for Hartford, Conn., to pass the week-end with friends. The Ambassador will receive a degree from Trinity College on Monday and they will return to Washington the following day.

The Belgian Ambassador and Princess de Ligne will follow the lead of the British Ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard in remaining within easy reach of Washington this summer. Capital Couple Wed in Garden At Forest Glen Miss Louise Proctor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Martin Proctor, was married last evening to Mr. Parke Flournoy Engle, the ceremony taking place, just as the sun was setting, in the rose garden of the home of Mr. Engle's mother, Mrs. Lavinia Engle, at Forest Glen, Md. Afterward there was an informal reception in Mr. and Mrs. Proctor's apartment at Florence Court.

Roses ran riot over trellises to form a charming setting for the ceremony, and the long shadows marched across the grass before the little bridal procession. Miss Proctor was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. Frederick Viedersteadt, of Syracuse, N. Y., was matron of honor. The maid of honor was Miss Elizabeth Engle, sister of the bridegroom. He had as best man Mr. George Simpson, editor of the Pathfinder. Miss Proctor's brother, Mr. Lawrence M. Proctor, was usher. The wedding party also included a flower girl, little Carol Proctor, of Bronxville, N. Y. niece of the bride.

The Rev. Dr. Charles Wood, for many years pastor of the Church of the Covenant, officiated, and Mrs. Henry Hunt McKee, organist of Ascension Church, played the wedding music on a quaint parlor organ tucked away for the occasion in the garden pergola.

Miss Proctor had chosen a wedding gown of white organdie, embroidered in white, its bouffant skirt dipping gracefully in the back. A big organdie bow marked the waistline. She wore a hat of Swiss mohair and carried white flowers.

The matron of honor was in rose and the maid of honor in pale green, their frocks fashioned of a pale shade of organdie, banded in a slightly deeper tone and embroidered. Both wore picture hats to match their gowns and carried garden flowers. The flower girl's frock was of yellow organdie and she carried a basket of rose petals.

On their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Engle will make their home at 1820 Massachusetts avenue. Mr. Engle is a member of the newspaper profession.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. Engle's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schroeder, and Miss Lavinia Engle, of Baltimore.

Drama Guild to Give Play in Sylvan Theater

The sylvan theater on the Monument Grounds will be a picturesque setting when the music-drama, "Sherwood," is presented on Thursday, June 20, with a cast of Washington players before a representative audience. It will be the last offering this season by the highly successful Community Drama Guild, which is less than a year old; and it will also mark, although not officially, the twelfth birthday of the National Sylvan Theater, through the efforts of Mrs. Alice Barney, a committee of drama enthusiasts and Col. W. W. Harts, then in charge of public buildings and grounds in Washington.

Twenty-four boxes will flank the rows of chairs, which will be placed on the grassy slopes of the Monument Grounds to the southeast of the shaft. Many men and women interested in the development of the drama have become sponsors for the event, which is arousing interest and enthusiasm because of the charm of the setting and poetic theme of the play. A number of popular players will appear in the leading roles under Mr. J. Milnor Dorey's able direction.

Recent additions to the sponsors are Mrs. James E. Freeman, Mrs. Stanley M. Rinehart, Mrs. Porter H. Dale, Mrs. Virginia White Speel, Mrs. W. W. Husband, Mrs. Harry Taylor, Mrs. A. BESIEGED OUTPOST EXPECTS HELP SOON

Pick of Foreign Legion Rushes to Aid of Desert Fort Attacked by Moors.

CRUSHING BLOW PLANNED

Rabat, Morocco, June 13. (A.P.).—Relief for the besieged French outpost of Ait Yakoub, surrounded by 3,000 well-armed Moorish tribesmen was expected within 36 hours.

Eight thousand shock troops, the pick of the hard fighting French Foreign Legion, under the command of General Freydenberg advanced rapidly today on the beleaguered desert post. Geneneral Freydenberg expected to relieve the post before Saturday.

He was prepared to strike a smashing blow at the tribesmen in their lair.

Within three days, he counted on killing, capturing and dispersing the besiegers of Ait Yaboub, who are 3,000 strong, well organized and equipped with arms of modern warfare.

The latest official figures for the casualties in the fighting on June 8 and 9 were 81 killed and missing.

Official advices said that a hot attack launched against the post yesterday morning was broken up by three squadrons of airplanes from the field at Rich, which dropped 600 bombs beside using machine guns vigorously on the attackers. Observers this morning reported seeing groups of the tribesmen apparently wending their way toward home.

The strength of the garrison was said to be still about 300 and to have two field guns. Since the attacking strength had not increased the post was believed reasonably safe from capture.

Bank Messenger Robbed Of $18,000 in Texas

San Antonio, Tex., June 13 (A.P.).—A messenger of the First State Bank of South San Antonio was held up on a bus here today and robbed of approximately $18,000.

Herbert Flack, the messenger, obtained the money at a bank here and started for South San Antonio. When the bus he boarded reached South Laredo street, a man who had followed Flack drew a revolver and forced him to hand over the money. Compelling the driver to stop the robber left the bus and entered a car parked near by in which a second man waited. The escape was made without any shots being fired.

Trial Shift Asked By Lawyer-Killer

Texan, Who Shot Down Son-in-Law, Applies for Change of Venue.

Amarillo, Tex., June 13 (A.P.).—Contending that he could not obtain a fair trial here, R. Hamilton, prominent Amarillo attorney charged with slaying his son-in-law, Tom Walton, jr., today applied for a change of venue.

The motion asked that the case be sent to another county. Witnesses were called in support of the motion.

Hamilton, a former commissioner of the Texas Supreme Court, shot and killed Walton here recently upon learning that the youth had secretly wed his daughter, Theresa Hamilton, last February.

Defense attorneys indicated Hamilton would plead self-defense and attempt to show he had been threatened by Walton.

The young widow came to the defense of her father at his preliminary hearing.

HOLDINGS DECREASE IN DISCOUNTED BILLS

TRACTION STOCK IS FIRM

By THOMAS A. CAHILL.

A decrease for the week of $43,500,000 in holdings of discounted bills and increases of $22,500,000 in holdings of Government securities and of $1,400,000 in bills bought in open market was shown yesterday in the consolidated statement of conditions of Federal Reserve Banks on June 12, published by the Federal Reserve Board.

Member bank reserve deposits increased $6,900,000; Government deposits, $2,700,000, and cash reserves, $39,800,000, while Federal Reserve note circulation declined $3,200,000. Total bills and securities were $19,600,000 below the amount held on June 5. All of the reserve banks, except those of New York and Cleveland, showed reductions in holdings of discounted bills.

Loans on Securities Unchanged.

Loans on securities to brokers and dealers amounted to $5,284,000,000, exactly the same as the preceding week, but an increase of $856,000,000 over the week ended June 13, 1928. Loans for own account, $821,000,000, presented a decline of $16,000,000 from the previous week and one of $258,000,000 below the comparative period a year ago.

Loans for account of out-of-town banks, aggregating $1,551,000,000, increased $38,000,000 from the week before, but were $67,000,000 below the corresponding period last year. Those for account of others, $2,911,000,000, were $23,000,000 behind the week prior and $1,180,000,000 ahead of the similar peri d in 1928.

Capital Traction Dividend.

The regular dividend of $1.75 a share was declared yesterday at the monthly meeting of directors of the Capital Traction Co., this action refuting reports that the board planned to cut the rate from 7 to 6 per cent and possibly to 5 and bringing wide-spread satisfaction to the stockholders.

While the company has felt the competition of bus lines and private automobiles for a long time, it has a large reserve fund amply sufficient to make up any shortage in dividend earnings for several years.

District of Columbia Week.

June 23-28 has been set as District of Columbia Week at the Bankers Industrial Exposition, New York City, and in the directorate of which President John Poole, Federal-American National Bank of this city, will serve.

Beginning with September 9, the entire year has been allotted among the 48 States with one week to be devoted exclusively to the industries and banking problems of one particular State. The State week program will be opened by New York State.

During District of Columbia week all manufacturers in the District whose products are of interest to bankers and industrial organizations will be invited to send exhibits to the exposition.

In addition to the special State weeks, the days of the week will be devoted to different industries, thereby making a business show for every business day. With the inauguration of this national program, the Bankers Industrial Exposition will be the first permanent business show to undertake a project of such vast proportions. There have been temporary expositions but never before has there been a permanent exhibit of everything which is of interest to bankers and industrial organizations.

Directors declared the usual 5 per cent quarterly dividend. President Otterback reported a most successful year, announcing a $90,000 gain in resources during the past twelve months.

"Second Hundred Billion" to Be Theme.

President Paul Clark, of the National Association of Life Underwriters, whose convention is to be held here September 25-27, has announced "The Second Hundred Billion" as the theme of the meeting. In the selection of this theme, the association is celebrating completion of the first $100,000,000,000 of life insurance in force in this country.

The District unit of the association held a meeting yesterday at the Arlington Hotel which was addressed by George A. Lilly, managing director of the American Dental Trade Association, who talked on "A Layman's View of Life Insurance." New members are P. B. Magruder, Helen Shartzer, F. X. Callahan and E. J. South African Vote Gives Hertzog Lead

Country District Returns Force Smuts From First Place in Election.

Cape Town, South Africa, June 13 (A. P.).—The government of Premier J. B. Hertzog went into the lead tonight on the strength of returns from the country districts and displaced the opposition South African party of former Premier Jan C. Smuts, who had forged ahead on the city returns up to last night.

Late tonight 125 results out of 148 seats had been reported and it appeared that Premier Hertzog, with the aid of the Labor members, who formed a coalition with him in the last parliament, might again hold the power.

The standing was: Nationalists (government), 59; South African party (opposition), 58; Creswell Laborites (government), 5, and National Council Laborites, 3.

Gen. Smuts, leader of the South African party, was reelected as were leaders of both factions of the Labor party, Col. F. H. P. Creswell and W. B. Madeley.

Orders for five electric locomotives, four for use in South Africa and one for the Patino Mines, in Colombia, have been received by the Baldwin Locomotive Works. The Westinghouse Electric & Manuafcturing Co., will furnish the electrical equipment. The Baldwin Company is now loading twelve locomotives and tenders at its Eddystone plant for shipment to South Africa.

The Houston Gulf Gas Co., a subsidiary of the United Gas Co., has contracted to deliver to the Humble Oil & Refining Co. a moximum of 15,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily at its Baytown refinery, near Houston.

An issue of 25,000 no par common shares of the Waco Aircraft Co., formerly known as the Advance Aircraft Co., will be offered for public subscription tomorrow. A substantial common stock interest of the Waco Company is being acquired by the Aviation Corporation, it is announced.

May net operating income of the Norfolk and Western Railroad is estimated by President Arthur C. Needles at $2,800,000, as against $2,554,111 of May, 1928. June loadings are 4.7 per cent ahead of last year and the net income for the current month, he felt, should equal or exceed those of June, 1928.

Gold imports at the port of New York for the week ended June 12 amounted to $1,393,000, of which $1,250,000 was received from England and $143,000 from Latin-American countries. TO WASHINGTON STREET CAR PATRONS

AN APPLICATION was filed yesterday by this Company with the Public Utilities Commission asking it to approve an increase in fare on all street cars operated in the District of Columbia to 10 cents cash or 4 tokens for 30 cents.

Such an appeal to the Commission was necessary because of the long continued shrinkage in our earnings, which are now and for years have been insufficient to keep up and improve the service, provide for the future and furnish a moderate compensation for the owners of the property which the public uses.

Had the directors considered only the rights of the company they would have filed an application for an increase more than four years ago and the application presented to the Commission today would have been made for a very much greater fare than they now request.

But they refrained from taking action, hoping that the necessity for taking it might be postponed, either because of a merger of the transportation systems of the District, with resulting economies in operation, or because the steady and long continued inroads of the private automobile into the company's business would lessen.

So far as the merger is concerned, both this company and the two others involved in it have done everything in their power to carry out the expressed wish of Congress for a unification of facilities in the public service.

Following the definite terms of an Act which Congress passed several years ago, an agreement for such a unification was signed by the companies. With important modifications it was approved by the Public Utilities Commission. Those modifications were, in turn, accepted by the companies.

As required by the Act of Congress, the unification plan was sent to the Capitol for approval by the Senate and House, without which the companies can not merge. When the agreement, as modified by the Commission, failed to meet the approval of the Senate District Committee and it employed one of the foremost utility experts in the country to work out a solution, the companies gave him every possible assistance.

But Congress approved neither the original plan of the companies, the original plan as modified by the Utilities Commission, nor the very much changed proposal of the Senate Committee's expert, which was adopted by that Committee and favorably reported to the Senate. The merger agreement, signed by the companies in February, 1928, expired on June 1, 1929. Steps looking to improved service and economies which would have been possible under any of the plans mentioned can not now be taken until Congress acts.

In June, 1928, we asked the Commission to approve an application for an increase in fare to tide us over until the merger might become effective. The Commission, however, did not act upon that application, giving as its reason the hope that Congress would approve the unification last winter.

We are now applying for the same increase we requested last June—a fare of 10 cents cash with 4 tokens sold on the cars for 30 cents—an increase of only five-sixths (5-6ths) of a cent for those patrons who regularly use our service, and a reduction of 10 cents in the amount invested in tokens at one time.

This rate, if granted, will give the company much less than the amount considered a reasonable return on the value of its property used by the public, but the management is still hopeful that conditions will improve. It does not want to ask the Commission to put any burden on the car rider greater than is absolutely necessary.

During the twelve months that ended April 30, 1929, the Capital Traction Company earned only 3.50 per cent on the value of its property as established by the court of last resort, or only about half of what has been accepted as a minimum reasonable return by the Supreme Court of the United States, and generally by Commissions and Courts. To enable us to earn 7 per cent under present conditions, would require a cash fare of 10 cents without tokens.

There are scores of cities that have gone through the same experience that Washington is undergoing. And in those cities fares have been raised to meet conditions for which the street railways are in no way responsible; the constant reduction in business which the private automobile has caused.

Cities are many where the fare today is 10 cents cash with a token rate higher than the 4 for 30 cents rate which we are asking for Washington. Included in that list are to be found: Boston, Baltimore, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Davenport, East St. Louis, Fort Worth, Grand Rapids, Hartford, New Haven, Norfolk, Pittsburgh, San Antonio, Salt Lake City, Seattle, Springfield, Illinois; Springfield, Massachusetts; Toledo, Waterbury, Connecticut, as well as others.

In every one of the cities mentioned the street railways are operated by the overhead trolley system—which costs about one-third as much to install as the underground conduit system in use in Washington.

We have practiced strict economy in operation. We have hoped and believed that the inroads of the private automobile would lessen. They have not. Nor would the most optimistic street railway man forecast when they will, although all are convinced that future city growth and development will continue to depend on high grade public transportation by street car and bus.

Those are the facts, stated simply and fairly. Our patrons are entitled to the best type of service; our stockholders to fair compensation for the use of their property. To insure those things we must have a higher fare. The directors and the management believe the public will appreciate the situation and will realize that an increase in fares would be in the interest of all concerned.

Former Secretary of State Kellogg Will Speak at 8 P. M.; Patriotic Music at 6; Summer Melodies Begin; Dane Numbers.

A special Flag Day program under the auspices of the American Legion will be broadcast by WRC at 9 o'clock this evening, direct from the Roxy theater studios in New York. Talks by Col. Paul V. Another Flag Day broadcast featuring an address, "Our Flag" by Sidney W. Ashe, supervisor of education and welfare for the General Electric Co., with patriotic music by a studio band will be heard at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Ashe is familiar to radio listeners of the East through frequent tolks over WGY on educational topics, and his Flag Day address has been carefully prepared to include material of general interest as regards the red, white and blue symbol of America's independence.

Frank Banta, pianist, will be the soloist of the Cities Service hour to be broadcast at 7 o'clock from WRC. He will play "Canadian Capers" and "Preludin' On the Piano." The Cavaliers will sing "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Gypsy Love Song," and Bartlett's "A Dream."

Selections by the orchestra will include a "Russian Dance," Friml; gems from "Her Soldier Boy," Romberg; "Les Sylphes," Lincke, and Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 13."

A new series of midyear broadcasts to be known as "Summer Melodies" will begin tonight, when Harry Horlick leads his symphonic and vocal ensemble in its initial program at 8 o'clock from WRC. Horlick, who needs no introduction to radio listeners familiar with the A. & P. Gypsies, will lead the entire series. He will be assisted by Julian Oliver, tenor; Dolores Cassinelli, soprano, and a complete salon orchestra, capable of symphonic effects.

The complete program follows: "Francais," Borch; "Homing," Del Riego; orchestra; "In the Month of May," Franchetti, Julian Oliver with orchestra; "Andalouse," Horlick, orchestra; "Because," D'Hardelot, Dolores Cassinelli with orchestra; "French Gavotte," Lemaire, orchestra; "Sweethearts," Romberg, Dolores Cassinelli, Julian Oliver, and orchestra; Hungarian Dance No. 6, Brahms, orchestra.

Ludwig Laurier will direct the string ensemble which presents the Slumber Music in three selections, drawn from the works of Beethoven, Schubert and Wagner. Overture to "Coriolan," "Unfinished Symphony," and a selection from "Lohengrin."

Among the selections to be presented during the Then and Now period from WMAL at 7:30 o'clock are "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover," and "There's a Four Leaf Clover in my Pocket," "Tonight You Belong to Me," and "Let Us Be Sweethearts Tonight," "Beside a Babbling Brook" and "Weary River," "Oh, Mister Dream Man" nad "Builder of Dreams," "You're the Only, Only One For Me" and "The One Girl."

Fifteen dance selections by Freddie Rich and his orchestra, with two solo offerings by Dorsey Byron, soprano, will make up the program that Doc West will present at 9:30 o'clock tonight from WMAL. Miss Byron will sing two bits from the audible moving picture "On With the Show," "Am I Blue" and "Birmingham Bertha."

Jansen's Hofbrau Orchestra will be presented from 10:15 to 11 o'clock.

WJSV will present a noon day program between 11:30 and 2 o'clock. The Civic Hour will open the evening broadcast, which includes several short features.

Pope Confers Honors on Lawyer.

© VOGUE

GINGHAMS have come out of the kitchen to bask at the seashore and the country. And one may not doubt their chic when they are developed with all the finessee that goes into the making of more important costumes. Of course, to be smart, they must be of the finest quality, in the loveliest colors and made on the simplest lines—and the accessories to be worn with them must be both appropriate and smart in themselves.

The suit takes on a casual air for resort wear when it is fashioned of gingham plaided in yellow, black and white, as is the one shown at the left of the illustration. The blouse is of white handkerchief linen. The simple jacket with a back yoke is complemented by a slightly circular skirt which buttons across the waist with a scalloped opening. The costume at the right in the sketch uses the same effective colors—yellow, black and white. The sleeveless frock of checked gingham in the three tones gains chic by the diagonal use of the fabrics as opposed to the straight. The collarless jacket is of bright yellow linen.

"Parking With Peggy"

The young modern's idea of seeing the light is to get home with the milkman.

What Today Means to You

June 14.

"GEMINI."

IF June 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11:30 p m.; the danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8 a. m., and from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m.

A great deal more will be accomplished June 14 than is revealed at this time. "You saddle today and ride out tomorrow." Destiny is at work for your good.

Children born on this date will be made or ruined by their training. Frequent curbing will make them restive. Their parents should remember that every "don't" is a kind of Bluebeard's chamber which the child will long to enter. There will be nothing disloyal or tricky about their natures.

You are both brilliant and reckless, and in many respects intemperate. As a student you loafed through your studies, and stood not far from the head of your class. In sports, you excel with little training. Later years will not alter your character, and you will continue to work at pleasure, and to play at work. You will never reach the top of the ladder, nor will you ever fall to the bottom. You will match your wits against perserverance and energy.

You possess a rare personal magnetism that "gets" all those who come in contact with you. You are more popular than those who are more trusted. You can not always be depended upon—you can not depend upon yourself. You are whimsical, careless and revengeful. You have the power to be both tender and cruel. It depends upon whether your sympathies or your anger is aroused. Your emotions are very undisciplined. Your generosity knows no limit and your fortunes are made and squandered. You are very attractive to those of the opposite sex, and it is useless to say that you do not enjoy this popularity. You will be infatuated many times; in love, but once. For your own sake, and the sake of another's happiness, do not marry too young, or in haste.

Successful people born June 14:
Harriet Beecher Stowe—author.
John Bartlett—compiler.
William Orton—promoter.
Richard Realf—poet.
Roswell M. Shurtleff—artist.
John McCormack—famous tenor singer.

Veterans to Get Outing From Women's Legion

Following an annual custom, the George Baldwin McCoy unit of the American Woman's Legion will be host to 75 disabled war veterans tomorrow. The veterans, all patients at Mount Alto Hospital, will be taken on an outing to Mount Vernon on the Washington & Mount Vernon Railway, leaving at 12:30 o'clock.

When the men return at 5 o'clock, buses of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. will be waiting to take them to the Wardman Park Hotel, where they will be guests of the hotel at dinner. The committee of women in charge of the outing is composed of Mrs. Laura V. Dann, chairman; Mrs. Charles Demonet, Mrs. M. M. Nock, Mrs. Pauline Block and Miss Lillian Dann.

Boy Bicyclist Injured by Auto.

Roy Michael, 13, of 629 Morton street northeast, was treated at Sibley Hospital for brush burns on both arms and legs as a result of being struck by an automobile while riding a bicycle in front of 36 K street northeast yesterday. The automobile was operated by Lester E. Colvin, of 1435 N street northwest.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE TEST.

If they shall say of me,
He shared what jests he knew,
And chancing pain to see
Did all that he could do
To soothe and ease the sting,
I'll ask no fairer thing.

If only they shall find,
When comes to me the end,
The thought that I was kind
And served them as their friend,
For all my stretch of days
I'll ask no sweeter praise.

Goals far beyond my strength
I can not hope to gain.
Achievement's farthest length
Men stronger must attain;
But I should meet the test
Of those who know me best.

And if they find me true,
Willing and glad to bear
All that I've power to do;
Ready with all to share
What little joys I gain
I shall not live in vain.

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

Chic bathing ensemble of Shantung silk. The trunks are of dark blue, while the shirt and coat have an orange and biege design printed on a blue background. (Courtesy of Marynowitzky, Paris.)

THE search for new materials and new combinations of materials goes merrily on. One never knows these days what two materials are likely to turn up deftly combined in the same ensemble.

So, considering the popularity of embroidery, it was not altogether unnatural or unexpected that we should come to—embroidered furs. Of course the furs are of the flat, short-haired variety, since long-haired furs, such as fox, would scarcely lend themselves to this bizarre treatment. They are embroidered in various ways—sometimes with metal and more often with color.

• • • •

Such extravagant bits of embroidery find employment in a variety of ways, sometimes being used for collar and cuffs on a trim tailleur, at other times making up an entire jacquette of a light "summery" fur with an outdoor ensemble, the dress being of one of those delightful woolen fabrics, which harmonize well with the fur, yet are eminently practical for summer wear.

• • • •

Small calf boots for riding are taking the place of the classical riding boots of the past. They are trim and practical, and are worn with the breeches falling over them.

• • • •

Bathing suits that cling to contours that can afford to be clung to are one thing; bathing suits that cling to else but Nature's dower should bloom to waste unseen, etc.—which unfortunately they mostly don't!

And it would be SO-O-O-O easy, so all and very easy, to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet, which tells how to make a perfectly delightful bathing suit that makes up in chic what it does not expose in contours.

If a woman can change her mind with maddening ease, why can not she change her style of footwear three times a day? She can!

This summer she goes golfing or walking or hunting with almost no heels at all, and comes home in time to go to tea in heels two inches high. (The figures are official). And then she wears even higher heels in the evening!

• • • •

It will be well worth your while to look for Mme. Dare's weekly fashion letter in The Sunday Post.

Au Revoir!

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

BABE RUTH AND THE DOCTOR.

Doctor: What's the name, please?
Babe: Ruth.
Doctor: Ruth what?
Babe: That's the last name; I'm Babe Ruth.
Doctor: Oh, I've heard of you; you won the British Open, didn't you?
Babe: No; it was the Kentucky Derby.
Doctor: Oh, yes. I read about so many sporting events.
Babe: You certainly keep well informed.

• • • •

Doctor: Well, what seems to be the matter?
Babe: I wish I knew.
Doctor: Let me see your tongue. Aha! I thought so.
Babe: What's the matter with me?
Doctor: You've been overeating.
Babe: Not me, Doc. I've been on a diet for the last two seasons. I always quit the table after the second sirloin steak.
Doctor: How are you on pastries?
Babe: I like strawberry shortcake for breakfast.
Doctor: Do you get much exercise?
Babe: Not as much as I got last season.
Doctor: Why not?
Babe: It must be the pitching.

• • • •

Doctor: You need to walk more.
Babe: I know it.
Doctor: Why don't you?
Babe: The twirlers don't seem so scared of me as they once were.
Doctor: Do you ever have that all gone feeling?
Babe: I have it every time I look at my batting average this summer.
Doctor: Do you sleep well?
Babe: The catchers and second basemen say I am sleeping better than ever.

• • • •

Doctor: Do you have spots before your eyes?
Babe: Only against slow-ball pitching.
Doctor: Ever have ringing noises in your head?
Babe: Every time I talk with Col. Ruppert about more money I hear ringing noises, but they're in his head, not mine.

• • • •

Doctor: Well, I think it will be necessary to take some X-ray pictures.
Babe: What for?
Doctor: To see what's inside of you.
Babe: I hope it's a batting streak.

Warning Premier MacDonald.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the new premier of England, may come to America. He will have to be careful crossing streets or he will get hit by some of this country's workingmen in their high-powered automobiles.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN

JUNE 14.

HARRIET ELIZABETH BEECHER STOWE, author of that most terrible indictment against slavery and one of the most famous books in existence, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was born this day, 1812, in Litchfield, Conn.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" was contributed in serial form in the National Era, an antislavery newspaper in 1851. The work was successful enough as a serial but did not become famous until it was issued in book form in 1852. It is one of the most successful novels on record. In less than a week after its appearance, 10,000 copies were sold and before the end of the year, 300,0000 copies had been supplied to the public. It was at once translated into all the European languages.

When the author was presented to President Lincoln at the White House in 1863, the President exclaimed, "Is this the little woman who brought on so great a war?"

She wrote about 40 other novels. Hundreds of companies have presented "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as a play and there also is a motion picture version.

PRICES MOVE AHEAD UNDER NEW IMPETUS

CALL MONEY 7 PER CENT

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—The stock market shook off to some extent the stagnation of recent sessions today, and moved forward with renewed vigor, under the impetus of more plentiful money. Total sales once more rose above 3,000,000 shares, a moderate turnover in comparison with past bullish performances, but about 50 per cent larger than previous sessions this week.

Public utility, steel and chemical shares led the advance, which was rather selective in character, and failed to include many of the coppers, oils, rails or motors. Much of the upturn was attributed to short covering, but the belief that many issues had reached bottom continued to grow, and it was rumored that some of the more powerful investment trusts were adding to their holdings.

The ease in money, which sent call loans to 8 to 7 per cent, and time loans to a flat rate of 8¼, from 8¼ to 8½ for the shorter maturities yesterday, was attributed to temporary conditions, resulting from the piling up of funds here against midmonth settlements, and bankers still warned that higher rates must be expected before the end of the month.

Would Prevent Serious Flurry.

The Federal Reserve condition statements, which appeared after the close of the market, however, were interpreted in some quarters as indicating that the Federal Reserve authorities for the first time in months are now acting in a manner which would prevent any serious flurry in call money rates. The New York Reserve institution showed a gain of approximately $10,000,000 in bankers' acceptances purchased, and a gain of $22,000,000 in Government securities.

In quarters close to the bank, however, it was insisted that no change in the tight money policy was indicated, that the gain in acceptances was the result of repurchase agreements, and the increase in Government securities merely incident to the new Treasury short-term financing. But regardless of the Federal Reserve policy, it appeared that member banks had purchased new Government securities in order to have them for collateral against additional rediscounts. The New York banks increased their borrowings by about $13,000,000, and the Reserve Bank showed a similar increase in bills discounted which were secured by Government obligations.

Other pleasing features in the credit situation were the extraordinary announcement of no change, one way or the other, in Federal Reserve brokers' loans, and the fact that, as expected, the New York Reserve Bank made no change in its rediscount rate. Both sterling and Canadian exchange fell well below the incoming gold point, and a large importation of gold from Montreal was said to have been arranged.

Utilities Feverishly Bought.

The utilities were still feverishly bought in today's market, under the impetus of further reports of bringing together practically all of the important power companies in the East into an alignment sponsored by J. P. Morgan & Co. The Associated Press index of 20 utilities rose more than 7 points to a new high record. American Water Works, American Power & Light, Commonwealth Power, North American and Public Service of New Jersey were among issues reaching new high ground, gains running from 3 to 9 points.

Auburn Auto again was a high flier, mounting 18 points further into new high territory. Such old favorites as American Telephone, American Can and U. S. Steel rose from 4 to 7 points, the first named drawing strong support on announcement of record sales of its subsidiary, Western Electric. General Electric rose 11 points to a new high record, but a fraction under the 300 mark.

Others at New Peaks.

Bethlehem Steel, Allied Chemical, Montgomery Ward, Johns Manville, National Distillers, Union Carbide, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Youngstown Sheet & Tube were among other issues reaching new peaks. Although oils were generally sluggish, Wall street remained optimistic over the prospect of eventual production control, and prices held steady. Lago was an exception, rising 4 points to a new top. Hoe & Co. was better sustained than for some time past, rising about 4 points to a new 1929 high at 22⅜.

Air Reduction ran into profit taking, falling back 3 points, and Burroughs, Marlin Rockwell and Sparks Withington were soft spots, losing about 5 points each. Barnet Leather, National Surety, Penn Dixie preferred and Peerless dropped to new lows.

In the commodities, wheat rose nearly 3 cents on a better outlook for farm relief and bullish Canadian advices, but later reacted on favorable harvesting reports and closed a cent or so net higher. Corn was firm on bullish Iowa reports and unfavorable weather. Cotton was steady, closing around 50 cents a bale higher.

Foreign exchanges were fairly steady, save for sterling cables, which fell to $4.84¾, around the low of the year, and the Canadian dollar, which sagged to near 99.15 cents.

PITT'S 72 SCORE WINS COLUMBIA TOURNEY MEDAL

NATS' ATLANTA DEAL VOIDED BY GRIFFITH; CHICAGO WINS IN 10TH

Southern Association Heads Block Sale to Washington.

Rule Forbids Ownership in Circuit by Big League Club.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

WARNING that the Southern Association directors would not sanction the sale of the Atlanta team to the Washington Baseball Club caused President Clark Griffith of the Nationals to announce the cancellation of the deal two hours after he had received the permission of the Washington stockholders to complete negotiations.

Opposition to major league ownership of a team in the Southern Association is expressed in the latter circuit's rules which forbids the sale of a franchise to a big league club without the sanction of three-fourths of the association owners. President John D. Martin, of the Southern Association, assured President Griffith that there was little hope that the sale would be approved by his league.

Not Informed of Rule by Spiller, Says Griffith.

President Griffith in a statement yesterday declared that he had not been informed of the conditions existant by Rell J. Spiller, owner of the Atlanta club, while negotiating for the purchase. Secretary Edward B. Eynon, of the Washington Club, is now in Atlanta to clear up legal tangles preparatory to the transfer of the club which was to take place at 6 p. m. tomorrow, but Mr. Griffith said that he had called off all negotiations immediately upon hearing of objection to the sale.

"Mr. Spiller did not apprise us of this rule or we would not have considered taking over his club," said Griffith. "We believe Atlanta is a good baseball city, but would not care to be interested in the league unless we were received with open arms.

Hopes to Buy Another Minor League Club.

"I am convinced that it is necessary for Washington to own at least one minor league club of high classification in order to compete with other big league teams in developing talent, and it may be that we will make another effort to purchase a promising-looking minor league franchise before long."

Griffith declared that he had no statement to make at this time on the spring training plans of the club. With the purchase of the Atlanta team it seemed assured that Washington would train in the Georgia metropolis in 1930, after a long siege at Tampa. Whether the team would return to Tampa, Griffith would not say.

Irving Hadley is slated to perform on the hill against the White Sox this afternoon in the second game of the current set. He probably will find Grady Adkins opposing him.

Renault Hurt; Match With Gallagher Is Off

Marty Gallagher, Washington heavyweight, will have to forego a meeting with the veteran, Jack Renault, of Canada, next Monday night at Baltimore owing to an injury sustained by Renault which made it necessary to call off the bout indefinitely.

According to Gallagher's brother-manager, Jimmy, Renault hurt his right hand while in training in New York and at present does not know when he will be able to enter the ring.

Gallagher's next fight will be in Philadelphia on June 24 when he will appear on the Heeney-Maloney card.

Four-Run Rally By Nats in Ninth Proves Useless

LIKE the cow that gave the bucket of milk and then kicked it over, the Nationals yesterday thrilled the fair week-end crowd by rallying in the ninth inning to score four runs and to knot the count at 8-all, only to allow the White Sox to do almost as much damage in the only extra inning needed to tally three times and finally win out, 11 to 8.

Judgment of pace seems to be almost as important in baseball as it is on the race track, and it was the home team's shortcoming in this respect which sent the verdict to the other side. Johnson's team overcame an alien two-run lead in the first, and then dropped back until the final turn was reached, when it came neck-and-neck down the stretch with the Chi sox, only to stop dead just when victory was in its grasp.

Chisox Pound Liska In Tenth Inning.

As a matter of fact, this question of judging pace also figured prominently in Adolph Liska's ineffectiveness in the tenth round, for the Nats worked so fast in knotting the count in the ninth that the young underhanded pegger did no have time to warm up properly. The result was a base on balls, Cissell's double, Kerr's triple, Berg's double and another pass, all in succession opening the extra frame which gave the visitors their three-run margin.

The White Sox struck almost as quickly as had the Nats in their ninth, when they knotted the count. Urban (Red) Faber had granted three runs

WELLS GAINS REVENGE ON TIGERS

Hurls Yanks to 8 to 5 Win Over Ex-Mates; Pound Whitehill.

NEW YORK, June 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Eddie Wells, the Yankees' youngest left-hander, took for himself a little revenge on the Detroit Tigers, the organization which dropped him overboard two years ago, by outpitching Earle Whitehill, the best left-hander of the staff of Bucky Harris, in a not too throbbing game at the Yankee Stadium today.

As a southpaw duel it was a fiasco. Whitehill was easy for the Yankees to hit, while Wells was the master of the right-hand hitting sluggers, which Stanley Harris marshals against left-handers. He held Heilmann, Alexander and McManus practically helpless. Alexander smote a three-bagger, but wouldn't have scored except for an error. The score was 8 to 5.

2 TECH STARS TO ENTER VIRGINIA

Edwards and Drissel Prize Athletes of School Ranks.

THE University of Virginia has drawn two of the prize Washington high school athletes. It was learned yesterday that Jake Edwards and Homer Drissell, outstanding performers of McKinley Tech High teams, will enroll at the Charlottesville institution next fall.

Edwards forsook a Princeton scholarship to enter Virginia. He is conceded to be the choicest performer in Washington scholastic ranks, with his football and track ability gaining him all-high honors. Drissell, a star at quarterback on the championship Tech Eleven, also gained all-high honors in football and baseball.

In Edwards Virginia gains a valuable adjunct to its football and track teams. It was in track that Edwards proved one of the most brilliant performers ever to contest in a scholastic meet in this section. Single-handed, he swung victory to Tech in the "C" Club meet by scoring 15 points, but the 20 points that he alone scored were not enough to enable his team to beat out Eastern in the scholastic championship games.

Won All Three Dashes in Scholastic Meet.

In the high school meet Edwards won the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes and the shot put. In the "C" Club meet Edwards set a new meet record of 50.1 seconds for the 440-yard dash, also winning the 220 and the shot put. In a meet at Princeton he ran the 440 in less than 50 seconds.

Edwards' football prowess was hardly dimmed by his track achievements. He was shifted to tackle last year after playing in the back field in 1927 and towered above all opposition with his 180 well-distributed pounds standing him in good stead.

Drissell's greatest fame was gained as quarterback of the Tech Team. Directing play in intelligent fashion throughout the scholastic series, he was conceded to be the outstanding thrower of forward passes. He played left field in baseball and hit the ball hard.

LIONELS ATTENTION.

All members of the Lionel Athletic Club are requested to attend the regular weekly meeting tonight, as an important matter will be discussed.

Dawson 1 of 8 British Golf Survivors

American Takes Two Matches in Quest of Amateur Title.

Elimination of Perkins, Defending Champion, Is Big Upset.

By FRANK H. KING
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

SANDWICH, England, June 13 (A.P.).—John Dawson, smiling young American, tonight still has his chance to win one of the rarest golfing trophies his home land has seen, the British amateur championship crown, which only W. J. Travis and Jesse Sweetser have taken away from Britain.

Having beaten an Irishman and Scotchman yesterday, Dawson added two more Scotch scalps to his belt today, defeating Edward Kyle and S. L. McKinlay, and is among the select eight remaining for the play in the quarter finals tomorrow morning.

A. J. Evans, London barrister and Kent Country cricket star, will attempt to stop Dawson's rush toward the final. Should Evans fail, either a Scottish carpenter named John Smith or the titled Michael Scott will oppose the Chicago youth in the semifinal tomorrow afternoon. If the American can stage another victorious day he probably will find his opponent in the finals the giant Cyril Tolley, one of the best of British golfers.

Dawson Compared to Jones In Manner He Rallies.

Bobby Baugh, Birmingham boy who captains the Oxford Golf Team, fell before Tolley today, leaving Dawson the only American survivor.

Experts who have been comparing Dawson to Bobby Jones tonight are justifying their judgment by citing how he has rallied in every match after a slow start.

The play proceeded with the usual number of upsets, the most striking today being the elimination of Philip Perkins, the champion. The title holder was put out by Andrew McNair, who a few hours later was trounced by Evans. Joshua Crane, the Boston veteran, after surviving the native challenges, lost to young Baugh and Baugh in turn lost after a great struggle with Tolley. All the famous active stars, except Tolley, have been eliminated.

Results of Matches In Fifth Round.

The result of the fifth round:

Rex Hartley defeated Robert Harris, two and one; Edward Tipple, 19-year-old London youth, won from T. J. Thirsk, Yorkshire star, four and three; Cyril Tolley defeated Robert H. Baugh, jr., three and two; Maj. Keith Thorburn defeated Reginald Straker, one up; John Dawson won from S. L. McKinlay, two and one; A. J. Evans defeated Andrew McNair, six and four; John Smith won from William Trulloch, four and three; Hon. Michael Scott won from R. B. Bayliss, two and one.

In the play tomorrow morning Hartley will play Tipple, Tolley meets Thorburn, Dawson plays Evans and Smith meets Scott.

Bucs Overcome Long Lead to Beat Giants

Pittsburgh, June 13 (A.P.).—Hard hitting by Sheely, Grantnam, Traynor and Lloyd Waner enabled the Pirates to come from behind and defeat the Giants by 11 to 7 here today after spotting the visitors six runs in the first two innings. The Giants scored five times in the second when Melvin Ott capped a rally with his thirteenth home run with two on, but the Pirates came back with an equal number in their own half. Walker had permitted one run and had filled the bases when Carl Mays relieved him. Hemsley greeted Mays with a triple and the Buccaneers were back in the game.

MANOR GOLFER TOPS COLE BY STROKE FOR QUALIFYING HONORS

Hugh Miller, Post Staff Photographer.
HARRY PITT.

Cards of 77 or Under Gain Championship Division.

Roesch Loses in Play-Off; Match Play Starts Today.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

HARRY G. PITT, of the Manor Club and former Middle Atlantic golf champion, yesterday won the medal for the low gross score in the qualifying round of the Columbia Country Club annual spring invitation tournament with a score of 37—35—72, winning by one stroke from Charles W. Cole, jr., whose card was 38—35—73. J. Monro Hunter, jr., the 17-year-old son of the professional of the Indian Spring Club, finished in third place, with 38—36—74.

The tragedy of the day was experienced by young Hunter, who, as he stood on the sixteenth tee, needed only three pars, 3—4—4, to turn in a card of 71 and win the medal. On the sixteenth hole, however, his tee shot was to the right of the green, and when he played to the green on his second he took three putts for a 5. He secured a par 4 on the seventeenth and still had an opportunity to tie with Cole, who was then leading with 73, provided he made a par 4 on the eighteenth.

Three Putts on 18th Green Fatal to His Hopes.

Unfortunately, however, he again took putts on the eighteenth green finishing with a 74. The cards of the three leaders:

	Out—								In—		Total
Pitt	5	4	4	4	5	4	4	3	4	—37	72
Cole	4	4	5	3	5	5	4	3	5	—38	73
Hunter	5	4	4	4	5	3	4	4	5	—38	74
Pitt	4	4	4	3	4	4	3	5	4	—35	72
Cole	4	5	4	3	5	4	3	4	3	—35	73
Hunter	3	5	4	2	4	4	5	4	5	—36	74

Pitt's card shows that he had fourteen holes in par, with three holes, the first, fourth and seventeenth, one over par, and with a birdie 4 on the long twelfth hole, 502 yards, giving him a total of exactly two strokes over the par of the course. To gain his 72 he ran down a 20-foot put on the eighteenth green for a par 4.

The remarkable feature of the tournament was the low scoring, which has never been equaled in any tournament ever held in this District. No less than 20 players were 77 and under, necessitating a play-off at the latter figure for positions in the first sixteen. The players who had these phenomenal low scores were as follows:

Harry G. Pitt, Manor	37	35	72
Chas. W. Cole, jr., Indian Spring	38	35	73

AMERICAN DERBY TOMORROW ASSURED FIELD OF 10

Eastern Stars Arrive at Chicago

Dr. Freeland, African Now on Scene of $50,000 Race.

Clyde Van Dusen Is Favorite in East-West Struggle.

CHICAGO, June 13 (A.P.).—With the arrival of Eastern stars, a field of at least ten was assured tonight for the $50,000 American Derby to be run at Washington Park Saturday afternoon. Dr. Freeland, winner of the Preakness, and African, which finished second to Blue Larkspur in the Belmont Stakes last Saturday, were unloaded at the track today.

The race promises to be a battle between the East and West, with indications that the field, although smaller, will surpass the Kentucky Derby in class. Clyde Van Dusen, winner of the Kentucky classic, rules as favorite and no doubt will go to the post in the honored position. African, the R. T. Wilson colt which gave Blue Larkspur such a battle in the Belmont, is shaping up as second choice.

Dr. Freeland, the property of Walter J Salmon, of New York, has not raced well since winning the Preakness, but has been training in first-class style. Tom Healey, trainer for both Mr. Salmon and Mr. Wilson, never has lost faith in Dr. Freeland, however, and believes the colt will be a strong contender for the derby.

Karl Eitel Carries Hopes Of Chicago Alderman.

Karl Eitel, victorious in the Fairmont Derby, will carry the hopes of J. J. "Bathhouse" Coughlin, Chicago alderman, in the big race. It is not expected that his stable companion, Rguish Eye, will start. The latter has been training well, but his handlers believe he is not up to such a gruelling race at this time. Karl Eitel has improved immensely over his Kentucky Derby race, his handlers assert.

With fair weather, indications are that a crowd of 65,000 to 75,000 will witness the race. The track was drenched today by a downpour, but with no more rain between now and Saturday the racing strip will be thoroughly dry and fast.

GENIAL HOST made up a world of ground. SPECTACULAR ran a good race. GADALONG ran below best form. WOOD GOD can win when properly placed.

ROXIE WEIDEL improved position steadily after first half mile, raced BABY DELHI into defeat approaching the turn and, opening up a good lead, was going handily at the end. BLACK THUNDER, away well and saving ground on inside, came again near the end, when permitted room, to hold others safe. BEECHWOOD, never far back, but forced wide into stretch, closed strongly when straightened out. BABY DELHI tired after five-eighths. LOUISVILLE LOU could never reach a contending position.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. The Licking Valley. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:48. Off at 3:51. Winner, W. J. and J. M. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FRANK HORAN, $11.82, $5.36, $4.10; MY HOBBY, $5.54, $3.64; WOODLOT, $11.70.

FRANK HORAN, hard hustled from start and, responding well, was sent into a good lead first half mile and, continuing well under pressure, lasted to hold MY HOBBY safe. Latter tired much around on inside first half mile, came with good courage through stretch and, although holding on stubbornly, was not good enough. WOODLOT was crowded back on the turn, came again when clear and held on gamely to outstay CASH PLAY. Latter had no mishaps and was tiring badly last sixteenth. MAIDEN'S TRYST was weakly handled and finished on own courage. LADY GOSSIP quit.

FIFTH RACE—One mile and seventy yards. (Substitute race). Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upwards. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 4:13. Off at 4:15. Winner, S. N. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GREAT SPORT, $15.46, $7.48, $6.70; MASTER, $5.94, $4.78; FIRE UNDER, $4.16.

GREAT SPORT assumed the lead immediately after start, increased advantage first half under steadying restraint and was never in danger thereafter. MASTER, always in hand in pursuit of the winner, made several runs at winner but was not good enough. FIRE UNDER was held on the inside in deepest going and could never improve position. TOMMY was forced wide into stretch and was going gamely last eighth. BILLY BASIL had no mishaps.

SIXTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:39. Off at 4:42. Winner, W. R. Estill's ch. f. FLO O'NEILL, far back and forced wide into stretch, came with a belated rush on outside in final eighth and rapidly wore leaders down last seventy yards. SKY HIGH, forward from start, slipped through on inside at head of the stretch, held on well, but could not withstand winner's rush near the end. PRINCESS CAROLYN, outpaced most of the trip, finished in close quarters last sixteenth. NIM THE NYMPH tired badly when put to a drive midway of the stretch. ZADORA MAY, used up forcing early pace, quit badly after reaching stretch.

PITT WINNER OF TOURNEY MEDAL

Evans and Bones survived to continue in the first flight, each scoring par fours on the first hole, while Adams, Buttz, Roesch and Loftus, each with fives, went into the second sixteen. Mackenzie should not have been in the play-off, for he had expended only 70 strokes as he stood on the eighteenth tee, but he encountered a trap on his second shot, played over the green on his third, and then, after reaching the green, took three putts to add a disastrous 7 to his card.

Match Play Restricted to Cards of 85 and Under.

Last year in the Columbia Club tournament there was a quintuple tie at 76 for the medal and cards of 79 played off for positions in the first sixteen. Yesterday 77 was the highest score to qualify in the championship flight, and four players with this figure went into the second sixteen. Last year cards of 89 qualified in the fifth and last sixteen. Yesterday no total over 85 became eligible for match play this morning and even at this figure four of the contestants lost out in the draw, as follows: Commander E. T. Lynes, Washington; H. P. Cochran, Columbia; Frank Jones, Richmond, and Gardner P. Orme, Columbia. The following, with cards of 86, lost out by a single stroke.

D. L. Thomson, Manor; Brooke V. Beyer, Columbia; P. Hudson, Indian Spring; E. Lodge Hill, Columbia; T. Y. Milburn, Columbia; Carl J. Quentell, Columbia; Fulton Brylawski, Town and Country; Robert Douran, Washington; Arthur Carroll, Beaver Dam; A. E. Alexander, Bannockburn; H. D. Cummings, Kenwood; L. Scott, Manor; Commander C. B. Platt, Columbia; Commander H. C. Train, Columbia; C. C. Heath, Bannockburn; S. C. Watkins, Columbia.

When it became apparent during the afternoon that scores of 86 and over would not qualify, a large number of the contestants declined to submit their cards. Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia Club champion and District amateur champion, after scoring 79 for his round, decided to withdraw from the tournament.

40 Central Gridmen Train at Annapolis

Forty candidates will make the trip to Annapolis next fall when the Central High School Eleven goes in for its two weeks' training period at St. John's College. Coach Ty Rauber is hopeful of finding a winning combination out of the collection for next season's high school series.

Those who were with the team last year include Robert Elcholtz, Paul Hinkel, Angus Lamond, Sam Mirman, Joe Rosenthal, Langdon St. Johns, Capt. George Brandt, Harding Zimmisch, Wilbur Cross, and Eugene Colella. The remainder are new faces.

The team is expected to be a great deal stronger than last year when it won only two games to barely finish out of the cellar. One of the newcomers, Lawrence Pinkney, is expected to furnish the punch needed for the backfield. Pinkney was one of the backfield threats of the Gonzaga Eleven last year.

The complete list follows:

Robert Bannerman, Raymond Boyle, Fred Burka, Joe Carroll, Bill Childress, Harry Cullinan, Robert Elcholtz, Max Feldman, Robert Graves, Paul Hinkel, Bowie Johnson, Sam Johnson, Leigh Kelsey, Frank Kocsis, Angus Lamond, Leonard Lindner, Jack Mercer, Joe McGinty, Sam Oehrman, Carroll Mitchell, Loren Murray, Ali Morgan, Lawrence Pinkney, Joe Rosenthal, Bob Ross, David St. Johns, Landon St. Johns, Gerald Schleich, Wilbur Cross, Wiley, Sheedy, Hoover, Lofstrand, Groves, Folansbee, Joel Kaufman, Bill Rector, J. Rosenberg, Sabitina and Eugene Colella.

TAKOMA TIGERS TRAVEL.

The Takoma Tigers journey to Camp Meade, Md., tomorrow for a game with the Soldier team at 2:30 o'clock. Tigers will meet at the District Line at 1:30 o'clock for the trip. Ehlers is slated to pitch. Sunday the Tigers play the Silver Spring Giants in a double header. Harry Milburn, Maryland University star, will hurl one of the games.

ROCKAWAY REPLACES SIMPSON IN SPRINT RACE HERE

Hurdle Champ Faces Dash Stars

Simpson, Hurt, to Be Spectator at South Atlantic Meet.

Records Threatened at Central Field Tomorrow.

DICK ROCKAWAY, Ohio State University's hurdler who ran the 220-yard hurdles in 22.8 seconds, May 25, in the Western Conference championships, lowering the accepted world's record by two-tenths of a second, will take the place of his teammate, George Simpson, in the feature 100-yard dash of the South Atlantic games tomorrow at Central Stadium.

The entry of Rockaway who, although better known as a hurdler, is nevertheless one of the fastest "flat" runners in the Middle West, was made last night by the Ohio State trainer, Frank R. Casselman, in a telegram to Winfree Johnson, secretary of the games committee.

The line-up for the start of tomorrow's "Capital century of the century" will be as follows: Claude Bracey, of Rice Institute, Texas, who several times has equaled the 100-yard dash record of 9.6 seconds, and who had done 9.4 aided by a slight wind at his back; Reginald "Pete" Bowen, intercollegiate quarter-mile champion and the speediest runner of Western Pennsylvania; "Flash" Farmer, dark horse entrant from the University of North Carolina, and Dick Rockaway.

While unable to compete owing to the leg injury he sustained in his record-breaking dashes last Saturday at Chicago, Simpson will appear at the meet tomorrow out of courtesy to the officials and the Ohio State alumni of Washington, who have planned to hold a reception in his honor.

Fastest 100 Yards in City Is Prospect.

Rockaway has proved his worth as a sprinter in dual meets for Ohio State, having run a leg in the championship half-mile relay which the Buckeye team won in the Ohio relays on May 4. His specialty, however, is the hurdles and in this event he is ranked the best by critics the country over. He won the national collegiate 120 high hurdles last Saturday in 14.7 seconds.

Even without Simpson meet officials believe the feature race will develop the fastest time ever recorded for the 100 yards in Washington. Bracey is anxious to better the time made last Saturday by Simpson, whom he trailed. The Texan twice before had defeated the Ohio flash. Both Bowen and Rockaway are capable of pushing Bracey to the limit, while there is an outside chance that the North Carolina mystery man, Farmer, will prove a contender.

Six Defending Champions Compete Tomorrow.

South Atlantic officials last night reported that little is left to be done about preparations for the meet. The track will be in near-perfect condition, Secretary Johnson said. Three workmen began yesterday the task of rolling and smoothing out the surface of the quarter-mile oval. Unless there is rain the track will be very fast, Johnson declared.

Six defending champions will be on hand. This group would number seven were Johnny Walstrum, sensational Baltimore Police Department star, able to take part. Walstrum, who won the broad jump, 100 and 220 yard dash titles last year, has an injured leg.

The defending titleholders are John McDonald, of Maryland University, in the shot put; Richard Gwynn, of the Baltimore Police, in the mile run; Dan Fahey, of Hyattsville, formerly of Maryland U., in the high hurdles; Earl Reigle, of the Patterson Track Club, Baltimore, in the 3-mile walk; Bill Agee, of the Emorywood A. C., Baltimore, in the 6-mile run, and Lieut. Frank Wersig, of the Marine Corps, formerly of the Naval Academy, in the pole vault.

Adleman Threatening Shot Put Mark.

McDonald's shot heaving championship should be seriously threatened by Dave Adelman, Georgetown University star. Adelman has done better than 48 feet while the champion's best previous mark is less than 45 feet. The other champions appear able to retain their laurels, judging from past performances of their own and of their rivals.

Present indications are that the team championship will be retained by the Baltimore Police, who will send fifteen athletes in defense of the crown. The Naval Academy team of nine looms as the strongest contender, possessing as it does, stellar performers in McKenzie, sprinter; Fraser, hurdler; Wright, high jumper and weight thrower; Fiala, quarter-miler, and Rouse, six-miler.

Earl J. Thomson, Navy coach and holder of the world's 120-yard high hurdles record, has offered to run a special race against time. He set his record of 14.4 seconds on May 29, 1920, at Philadelphia while competing for Dartmouth. He advised meet officials that he is in excellent physical condition and capable of hurdling nearly as fast as in his best days. A decision on his offer will be reached probably today.

Godfrey Match Brings Dempsey $500,000 Bid

Philadelphia, June 13. (A.P.)—Joseph Kennedy, local boxing promoter, has called at the office of Mayor Harry A. Mackay and announced that he is prepared to offer Jack Dempsey $500,000 to meet George Godfrey, negro giant, in a 10-round bout at the Municipal Stadium late in September or early in October.

Kennedy said he would give Dempsey $100,000 as soon as he signed a contract and suggested that Mayor Mackey act as stakeholder for the balance. The promoter said the proposal had been aroved by Frank Wiener, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, and that he would submit the offer to Dempsey in a few days.

ALSOP'S PINCH HOMER WINS

Alsop's homer with one on and one out in the last half of the eighth inning, the last by agreement, gave the Isherwood A. C. a 6-5 victory yesterday over the Army Medical School Nine. Two Isherwood runs had scored immediately prior to Alsop's blow. Dumford's fielding for the winners also was outstanding. Isherwood will play Mount Rainier Sunday on the latter's diamond requested to phone Manager Nalley of the Moose Seniors at Lincoln 480 today in regard to Sunday's game.

G. W. U. COEDS WIN RIFLE TITLE

National Championship to Local Team With Record Score.

THE women's intercollegiate rifle championship of the United States has been clinched by the George Washington University Team, it was learned last night with the official announcement of the results of the National Dot and Circle Trophy shoot.

Missing a perfect score by only one point, the George Washington coeds beat out Maryland University for the title with a score of 499 out of a possible 500 by the five girls on the team. Maryland was second with a score of 493. The other leaders follow:

Cornell, 485; University of Vermont, 479; South Dakota State, 478; University of California, 476; Northwestern, 475; University of South Dakota, 473; University of Idaho, 471.

499 Score Is New Record For Competition.

The victory of the George Washington Team marked its third successive triumph in the National Dot and Circle competition and gave the local coeds permanent possession of the trophy. The score of 499 set a new record for the shoot. Their victory entitles the George Washington shooters to the national championship without question as a result of their previous triumph in the National Rifle Association shoot.

On the victorious team only Capt. Helen Taylor failed to make a perfect 100 score. She registered 99. The other members of the team are Betty Clark, coach; Naomi Crumley, Marjorie Leaghey and Verna Parsons.

Legion Nines Start Anew Under Strict Player Rule

THE battle for the American League baseball championship of the District will begin anew June 23. Decision was made by the managers of the seven teams in the series last night to throw out all games played to date and start the series over on that date with the enforcement of the national rule that no team shall use players from more than one high school.

At the session last night Dan Sowers, national director of the junior series ruled that none of the games played in which players were used in violation of the high school ruling would be considered legal. He suggested that the teams comply with the rule and begin a new series, and his suggestion met with the unanimous approval of the managers, although the majority of the teams will have to be rebuilt to comply with the high school ruling.

Managers Complimented For Sportsmanship.

The teams will play as scheduled Sunday, it was decided with the exception of the Victory-Walcott contest, which has been canceled by the managers of the two teams. These contests will not have any bearing on the championship race, however.

Both Bowers and W. W. Watt, director of the local series, complimented the team managers on their display of sportsmanship in unanimously agreeing to make a fresh start. The national director was especially well pleased with the complete cooperation of the team managers.

"I want to thank each of you team managers for the splendid example of high sportsmanship you have shown," Sowers said. "You have shown an admirable attitude and a fine example of good sportsmanship for the boys under your direction in meeting this unfortunate situation in such a commendable manner."

Managers Agree to Release Players Tomorrow Night.

Each manager agreed to release players made ineligible by tomorrow night so that rival managers can sign those released to fill the gaps left in their line-ups before next Tuesday, when contracts for players to be used June 23 must be in the hands of the secretary.

Victory, undefeated to date, will lose one player by the enforcement of the rule. The Eight and Forty, Walcott and Delano Teams will not be seriously injured. George Washington, Spengler and Lincoln Post Teams face the problem of reorganizing their nines.

EAGLES TO PLAY GIANTS.

The undefeated Anacostia Eagles will play the Washington Giants Sunday on the Anacostia diamond at 2 o'clock. The Eagles have won six straight for the season and will be out to make it seven straight.

PLAYGROUND VICTORY TO MONROE

Wheatley Loses, 3-2, in First Game for City Honors.

MONROE SCHOOL'S NINE got the jump in the playoff for the elementary school city baseball title, defeating Wheatley's team, 3-2, in the first of the three-game series for the championship in the senior class, on the Plaza Playground diamond yesterday.

This annual series is staged by the Municipal Playground Department. Monroe is representing the Western section and Wheatley the Eastern section.

Today the Blow and Janney School Nines will meet in the first of three games to decide the city junior championship on the Plaza diamond starting at 3:30 o'clock.

Monroe Wins Without Making a Base Hit.

Monroe won yesterday's game without making a hit. The base running of Carlton Giovannetti and Bits Harris made the victory possible. Giovannetti scored in the first inning on a walk, two stolen bases and an infield out. In the fifth he was safe on a fielder's choice and again stole second and third, scoring with a diving slide after the catcher threw wild in returning the ball to the pitcher. Harris made the other run on a walk, two stolen bases and an error at short stop.

Hits by Cullens and Daniels accounted for the first Wheatley run in the fourth, while Daniels drove in Nock with the other run in the sixth.

Although Pitcher Mahaney allowed Weatley five hits, he did not walk a man and took the side in order in the last three innings.

The Return Of OLD KING BRADY

Revived by MERLE W. HERSEY

(Copyright Protected. Reproduction in Whole or in Part Prohibited.)

In the fifth chapter Old King Brady disguises himself as a German peddler and heads for Toddleton. He is overtaken by Big Bart Brown and some of his men. In the meantime Harry makes up as a half-witted mountain lad and dashes into Toddleton bareback, playing a harmonica. He located Ellen and helps her to escape, following her closely himself.

TRAPPING THE "TERROR" OF TODDLETON.

CHAPTER VI.

The Raid on Blueburg.

OLD King Brady was responsible for the gang's proposed raid on Blueburg. The detective's scheme, so far as that went, had proved a complete success.

In response to his questions Big Bart roared out, "Who the deuce are you? What are you doing here?"

"Who I vas? Mein name vas Stein," replied Old King Brady. "You vant to buy some suspenders mebbe, yes?"

"Buy nothing—we always take," retorted Big Bart. "Now, listen. Where did you come from?"

"Plueburg."

"You have just come from Blueburg—did you meet any one on the road?'

"Nein, nobody."

"There was an old buggy with a big basket in behind that went over the Blueburg road sometime this morning. You didn't see that?"

"So? Ha! Den but I did see dat—but on de road."

"When? Where?'

"Dis morning early. I see dot puggy come into Plueburg, yes."

"Tell me all about it," roared Big Bart. "Who was driving?"

"A man mit a cloth about his head. He was shot py a fellow dey call Pig Part Brown.'

"Was he alone?"

"Nein. Dere vas an old man mit him in de puggy." Old King Brady took a bite of satsage calmly. "Dey took the basket and put it in de office of de comit mine."

"Say, Jim," chuckled Bart Brown, "its the luckiest thing in life we met this old codger.

"It's all as plain as print," continued Bart. "Gurley's gang made a miss of it and Braxton gave them the slip. If we had pulled together this wouldn't have happened.

"And about this man?"

"Goes with us. We can't leave him here—he knows too much."

"Schentlemans, let me go," cried the old detective, showing every sign of fear.

"Not on your life," cried Big Bart. "We will take your things, but we will not let you go." The outlaws proceeded to help themselves to whatever they fancied in his pack.

Old King Brady was then placed on his horse and his feet tied together under the horse, and the march began.

A short distance back on the trail they met the rest of the gang, which now numbered about eighteen men, all well-mounted and armed.

"Now, all we need is to meet Jasper's gang to spoil my plans," thought Old King Brady.

Big Bart scouted on ahead and came back with the news that a party of lead miners had gone on toward Gunyon. They all decided it was an ideal time to swoop down on Blueburg.

There was nothing jovial about this gang. Little was said, but Old King Brady, whose ears were open for any information, heard Big Bart remark that if they succeeded in getting the money they would at once abandon Toddleton and take to the mountains until the thing blew over, after which they would run down over the line into Arkansas.

As they neared Blueburg, the gang halted and each man masked.

"Double up!" came the order. "When we strike the head of Main street it's four abreast—with the peddler in the middle. Forward! Let her go!"

Such mad riding Old King Brady had never seen. They had not gone far when a man on horseback coming toward them, suddenly turned and dashed back in the direction of Blueburg. This man had been sent out by the sheriff to watch for the raiders.

Ten minutes later the gang came in sight of Blueburg. Doubling up the gang gave a demoniacal yell and went dashing down upon the town.

Not a soul was to be seen. Every store was closed. The place looked deserted. Instantly the outlaws opened fire on store windows. But not a soul appeared. Just beyond the hotel the main street of the town takes a turn and makes a sharp descent to the mines, the buildings of which cannot be seen from the hotel. Here was a danger spot.

Old King Brady had lured Big Bart Brown to the mouth of his trap. Around the turn a hundred men might be lying in ambush, for all the big outlaw could tell.

"Load up full charge, boys!" he ordered. He turned fiercely upon the old detective. "Old man, if we lose this fight you're a dead one!" he cried. "Forward! Let her go!"

The gang dashed ahead with Big Bart Brown, his brother Bike, and Jim Tully in the lead.

The Terror Escapes From the Trap.

If Old King Brady was doubtful about the success of his plan, then Harry was not kept long in doubt about his.

The fact was that Harry chose the right time to aid Ellen Turner to escape. The sudden arrival of Bart Brown had distracted the attention of everyone long enough to allow Harry to get away unseen. Ellen followed him closely. They pushed on, making about half the circuit of the hollow in which the settlement lay. Several times Harry ventured to the edge of the woods to see if their escape had been discovered. On one of these occasions he saw Big Bart Brown and his gang ride off out of the inclosure.

"The time has come, Miss Turner," said Harry, "when I must be frank with you. In the first place, my name is Brady. I am a detective and the old gentleman who was with me at Gunyon is my partner."

"Can it be that he is Old King Brady, the famous detective?"

"Yes, miss."

"Oh, if he had only told us so. What trouble might not have been avoided. It was wrong for my father to treat you as he did, but when I tell you he was sick for a long time, during which his mind was very much affected, you will understand."

"He was crazy!" cried Harry.

"For a time he was in a sanitarium. But he seemed to have recovered and I brought him out here thinking the change would do him good."

How could Harry tell her the truth? But it had to be done. And so as they climbed the hill, he broke the sad news gradually. She took it more calmly than he had expected.

"It is dreadful—just dreadful. I tell you honestly I never expect to see him alive again."

"Oh, don't say that. Old King Brady is resourceful and he may have found your father and taken him to safety long before this."

"We will hope for the best."

"I propose to go direct to Blueberg, but we will have to pass the old hut first and I hope we don't get into trouble with Gurley."

They pushed on until they reached the rock where Harry paused to take a final look down upon Toddleton. Then they continued on down the hill toward Jed Gurley's hut.

"It seems to me I smell smoke," remarked Ellen. "It seems to me we are going to find something unexpected when we get there."

"We shall soon know, for here we are," replied Harry. He pushed aside the bushes, which were unusually thick here, and they passed out into the clearing. "You were right."

Where the hut had been was nothing but a smoking heap of ashes. The ground around it was trampled with hoof-marks which told the story.

Ellen gave a sudden scream. She broke away from Young King Brady and ran toward the ravine. There, on the other side stood the banker. He was bareheaded. "Father! Father!" screamed Ellen. He turned with a wild laugh and plunged again into the forest.

"Stop! No!" they heard him shout. "Clocks stop, so do watches, but I go on forever. I am the king of the world."

* * * *

Big Bart Brown's indecision at the bend in Blueberg's main street was a brief one. Now as they dashed on their advance was instantly checked. Bang! Bang! Bang!

"Trapped!" yelled the terror. "Give it to 'em, boys!"

A whirl of bullets on both sides filled the air. The first shot from Bart's gun was aimed at Old King Brady but he crouched down and the shot went over his head. The horse reared and down they went.

The former sheriff was much in evidence. He fired twice at Big Bart but without effect.

The outcome of it was that five outlaws were unmounted and the others followed Big Bart in a wild dash back up the street and out of Blueberg. Not one of the Blueburgians had been killed.

Thus the Terror of Toddleton, just when his capture seemed certain, had escaped.

CONVERTIBLE BONDS IN LARGEST DEMAND

General List Moves Irregularly; Few Foreign Sugar Issues Advance.

TRADING MOSTLY QUIET

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—The bond market moved along an irregular path today. Seven convertibles accounted for one-third of the sales volume, pushing the total well over $8,000,000 par value for the largest turnover of the week.

Aside from the share privilege issues, which were generally strong in sympathy with stocks, and two of the foreign sugars, which rose sharply against the general trend in that group, the session was dull and uninteresting, averages for representative rails, utilities and industrials showed moderate declines, the largest appearing in the first-grade rails.

American Telephone convertible 4½s afforded the day's feature, advancing 2½ points on a par value volume of more than $1,500,000. International Telephone 4½s, Missouri Pacific 5½s and American International Corporation 5½s were well supported for fractional improvement, while Public Service of New Jersey 4½s mounted 7½ points, to a new 1929 high at 216, on the smallest buying in the convertible group.

Rails showed little activity. Some of the best demand appeared in Rock Island refunding 4s, Texas & Pacific 5s and Southern Railway General 6½s, the last named climbing 1½. Selling was felt in Erie refunding 5s, the Seaboard issues and Florida East Coast 5s, the last dipping 1½ to a new year's low.

Better support carried a few of the utilities into higher ground. Columbia Gas & Electric 5s, Illinois Bell Telephone 5s, Kansas Gas & Electric 6s, and Public Service Electric & Gas 4½s made gains.

Cuba Dominican Sugar 7½s, with a spurt of 7 points, and Vertientes Sugar 7s, up 5, soared well above their recent low levels, but obligations of other foreign producers of this stable worked below yesterday's close.

United States Government issues had the best turnover of the week and all but the Liberty 3½s and one of the long-term Treasury certificates improved slightly. In the over-the-counter market the new 5½s certificates, when issued, again commanded a premium.

Foreign bonds held to their recent irregular course.

Curb Review

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—Merger plans of J. P. Morgan & Co., brought a rush of buying into public utility stocks on the curb market today, carrying nearly a half a dozen to record prices for all time. Trading in one stock—Commonwealth & Southern — established a sales record for a single stock in one day, 586,800 shares changing hands. This bettered by about 5,000 the previous mark hung up by Canadian Marconi.

Activity in the utilities imparted a buoyant tone to the general list, although several weak spots cropped out in the market. Oils were steady and aviation shares were mixed and the motors broke sharply.

Advances in the public utilities ranged up to 16¾ points, but many of these were scaled down by profit-taking. St. Regis Paper, which controls Northeastern Power, made the extreme gain, but closed at 190 for a net advance of 8 points on the day. Northeastern Power, Buffalo, Niagara & Eastern and Mohawk-Hudson Power are being brought together into one great system in upper New York State. Stocks of all three companies and their affiliates ran up to new highs.

Announcement by Commonwealth & Southern of an extension of its exchange of stock offer to minority holders of Southeastern Power and Penn-Ohio Edison sent the last two into record high territory. Commonwealth & Southern after selling down to 22⅝, its low price, closed at 23⅜ for a fractional gain.

Checker Cab dropped 6½ and Paramount Cab fell to a new low on announcement Ford was to enter the New York taxi field.

Rainbow luminous products spurted ahead nearly 10 after selling for several days around the year's low level. Minneapolis Honeywell Radiator again scaled a new peak. Libby Owens Sheet Glass shot up more than 12 points after declining steadily for several days. Tubize Artificial Silk in the high-priced group again sank to a new low at 315. But snapped in the final hour to close at 350, off 5 points on the day.

The oils paid scant attention to the adjournment of the Governors' oil conference in a virtual deadlock. Cosden was under pressure. Gulf and Humble tallied gains.

Chain store groups were mixed. Western Auto Supply got up to a new high, but Silver Brothers and Bohack Stores dropped 5 and 1½ points, respectively.

NATION-WIDE QUEST FOR TWO CHINESE IS STARTED IN SLAYING

Two Alleged Gunmen Are Believed Hiding in One of Larger Cities.

DETAILS OF $2,500 "RIDE" ARE LEARNED BY POLICE

Wife of Accused Renter of Auto Is Jailed Pending an Investigation.

Washington police and Federal authorities last night instituted a Nation-wide search for James Lee and Lee Geen, said to be professional Chinese killers, wanted as the slayers of Lee King, alias Ching, whose bullet-riddled body was dumped on the sidewalk near Eleventh and L streets northwest early Wednesday morning after he had been "taken for a ride" in the approved Chicago fashion.

With the arrest of Lee and Geen, police feel confident they will be able to reopen successfully their investigations of the recent tong warfare in which several Chinese were killed.

A technical charge of investigation was placed against Lew Ah Ngook, 27 years old, who admitted to police yesterday, they said, that she was the wife of Lee. She and her two children, one a baby in arms, are being held at the House of Detention. Her home, 1214 D street northeast, is said by police to have been the rendezous of several Chinese whom police would like to question on police matters.

Identification Is Claimed.

According to police King branded Geen as the man who fired the fatal shots, while being placed on the operating table at Emergency Hospital, where he died several hours after the shooting.

Lee, who formerly conducted a laundry at Fourteenth and L streets northwest, has been identified, police said, as the man who hired the rent-a-car in which King was carried to his death.

Police last night also instituted a search for the local Chinese who, they were told, contributed to the fund of $2,500 which was to be paid to the men who silenced King's lips forever. Ever since he fell into the hands of Federal narcotic agents, more than a year ago, King had been used as a "stool pigeon" by the agents. His activities against his fellow countrymen in Washington, Richmond and Norfolk became so annoying, police said, that the Chinese marked him for death and put a price on his head.

King Knew of Fate.

King knew he was marked for death, his negro wife, who lived with him at 1428 Eleventh street northwest, told police, but had frustrated several previous attempts to "get him." Geen called at King's home shortly before midnight on the day before the murder, according to police, and though reluctant to leave his home, accompanied Geen only because he was assured it was a "business venture."

The murder car was found abandoned on lower Pennsylvania avenue several hours after the shooting, and police believe the slayers collected their reward and left the Capital immediately for a hide-out in one of the cities with larger "Chinatowns" than Washington.

Moy Ping Ding, 32 years old, and Hume Boaing, 22 years old, who were arrested shortly after the shooting in Lee's old place of business only after police had smoked them out with tear gas bombs, were released from custody yesterday afternoon. They had been held for investigation.

GIRLS AND BOYS WHO COMPLETE BRENT SCHOOL COURSE

Graduating class of the Brent School.

GRADUATES OF N. U. TOLD PATERNALISM IS MENACE IN U. S.

Individualism Now Threatened, Merle Thorpe Declares at Commencement.

GOLD MEDALS AWARDED TO SEVERAL STUDENTS

Law and Economics and Government Schools Hold Joint Exercises.

Declaring that while young men and young women of today have many opportunities for success, there is a cloud on the horizon for America—individualism, as it relates to business development, is threatened, according to Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, magazine of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Thorpe delivered the principal address last night at the sixteenth commencement exercises at National University Law School and the School of Economics and Government in Memorial Continental Hall.

"The menace to a still more glorious future is this growing tendency of the American people," he stated, "to substitute paternalism for that individualism which has made us what we are today. We are too ready and willing, and, indeed, eager to ask Government boards and commissions to do the jobs which industries and communities could better do for themselves.

Paternalism Is Deplored.

"The American brand of socialism is paternalism," he concluded, "and it is the real foe of our democratic institutions. Paternalism breeds bureaucracy and bureaucracy is a greater menace than communism or autocracy."

Thorpe was introduced by Justice Frederick L. Siddons, of the District Supreme Court, senior member of the university's law faculty, who has been connected with the school for more than 29 years.

Justice Jennings Bailey, of the Supreme Court of the District, and of the law faculty, distributed medals and prizes. Awards were made as follows:

University gold medal for the highest average in the postgraduate class, Y. J. Huang; honorable mention, Albert W. Kaiser.

McArthur gold medal for the most satisfactory senior examination, Clarence L. Lavender.

Hurst Gold Medal Awarded.

Hurst gold medal for the highest average in the junior class, Zoda V. Greenlee; honorable mention, Louis H. Mann.

Eugene Carusi gold medal for the most satisfactory examination in the freshman class, Merritt L. Smith; honorable mention, Edwin T. Bean and Clarence O. Luhn.

Emma Deal Denton gold medal for the best final examination in equity jurisprudence, Zoda V. Greenlee; honorable mention, F. A. Copsey.

For the best examination on corporation law, E. V. Cogley was awarded the prize, and William D. Medley and H. Bryan Milnor received honorable mention. Zoda V. Greenlee received the prize for the best examination on the subject of real property, and Winthrop A. Johns and Louis Mann honorable mention.

For the best examination in bills and notes, Helen Bowers; honorable mention, Amos T. Patger and Merritt L. Smith.

A. Sherman Christenson had been recently selected as the best debater in the university and he received the faculty award.

Scholarship Keys Awarded.

Two golden scholarship keys were awarded, one to William D. Medley, a member of the Joseph H. Choate Chapter of Sigma Nu Phi, which was given by the national executive council of that fraternity to the member who obtained the best average throughout his three years, and to Alice V. Kelly, who upon receiving the LL. B degree, attained the highest scholastic standing during the three years of her study. The latter was given by the Omicron Chapter, Kappa Beta Pi Sorority. A gold medal was awarded to David Lynn 5th by the Beta Chapter, Phi Beta Legal Fraternity, in recognition of his receiving the highest scholastic standing during his three years of study.

With Dr. Charles F. Carusi, chancellor and president of the Board of Education, presiding, the program opened with a selection from "Show Boat" and when the students entered on the platform the orchestra played Schiller's march, "Success."

The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, pastor of the Metropolitan Memorial M. E. Church and chaplain of the House of Representatives.

One of the features of the program was the awarding by the chancellor of two honorary degrees, one to Mr. Merle Thorpe, editor of "Nation's Business" of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and the other to Dr. William Mercer Sprigg, physician, of this city.

Norwood P. Cassidy, of the class of 1929, delivered the valedictory.

Professor and Dean Officiate.

Candidates for the law degrees were presented by Prof. Hayden Johnson, a member of the law faculty. Dean Pergler handed to the graduates the degrees awarded in the School of Economics and Government.

The graduate students were from the District of Columbia, 41 States, Panama, Philippine Islands and China. Of the 300 who took their degrees during the exercises fifteen were graduates of the School of Economics and Government.

Eighteen women were awarded degrees, three of whom received master's degrees. They are Florence V. Kerr, of Colorado; Rose Sapperstein, of Maryland, and Jean Stephenson, District of Columbia, the latter also receiving the degree of doctor of juridical science. This was the greatest number of women students ever graduated by the school.

Three Chinese students, Semon V. K. Foo, Yung Jung Huang, and Henry P. Chiu, received doctorate degrees.

HOTTEST JUNE DAY AFFECTS TWO HERE

Official Thermometer Shows 92 Degrees, Near High Mark of April.

SUNSHINE WILTS COLLARS

The sun blazed forth here yesterday to make it the hottest June day this year, with a heat mark of 92 degrees, to leave in its wake a populace with wilted collars, perspiring brows and two weather-affected victims.

At 4:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon the mercury in the official Weather Bureau thermometer climbed to this record peak, approaching to within 2 degrees of the most sweltering level in Washington for the year.

Taking a slow start at 69 at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the temperature began rising steadily to hover at 92 for a brief time and then recede in erratic fashion. This figure equaled the high point of May, registered on the final day of last month, and topped the previous June high of 87 last Friday.

The scorcher also rivaled the 92 of April 6, but failed to eclipse the 93 of April 7 and the year's highest official mark of 94 degrees on April 8.

The heat was credited by police with influencing in part the queer actions of Mhair Yagazrian, a 44-year-old Armenian, of 311 Pennsylvania avenue, who was sent to Gallinger Hospital about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the complaint of Sanitary Officer L. O. Stump that he was shouting wildly near the District Building.

William Adams, 65 years old, colored, of 444 Ninth street southwest, was overcome by the heat while laying a sidewalk at Forty-sixth and Klingle streets northwest about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was taken by police of the Fourteenth Precinct to Georgetown Hospital and was dismissed a few minutes later after receiving medical aid.

The Weather Bureau forecast possible thundershowers today, but predicted little change in temperature.

Electrician Files Bankruptcy Petition.

John Edward Schenck, an electrician, of 2411 Newton street northeast, filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy yesterday at the District Supreme Court. Through Attorneys M. H. Aronson and Abe Shefferman, the petitioner listed debts of $2,185 and declared he had no assets.

ISMAR BARUCH GETS CLASSIFICATION JOB

Civil Service Board Appoints Him to Personnel Unit to Succeed Moffett.

PREVIOUSLY WAS COUNSEL

Ismar Baruch, of 3708 Brandywine street northwest, was named yesterday as the representative of the Civil Service Commission on the Personnel Classification Board, to succeed Guy Moffett, who has resigned to go to New York City.

Mr. Baruch's service with the commission began in 1916. He did not take up classification work, however, until 1919, when the joint congressional commission on the reclassification of salaries made the original survey of civil service.

Baruch steadily advanced in that field of activity. He was appointed assistant chief of the examining division in 1920 and assistant to the chief examiner in 1924. Between these dates he represented the commission on the classification survey of the Engineering Division of the Air Corps at Wright Field, conducted jointly with the War Department.

When the Personnel Classification Board was established in 1923, Mr. Baruch was designated chief of the field division. During the past year he had charge of classifying the field force. He acted as chairman of the Board of Prohibition Appeals in 1927 and also as the commission's legal representative.

Mr. Baruch received an LL. B. degree from George Washington University. He also holds degrees from Brown University and Princeton. He is chairman of the committee on classification and compensation plans of the Civil Service Assembly of the United States and Canada.

Wife Charges Misconduct in Suit.

Mrs. Elsie Cooke, 3030 Otis street northeast, instituted suit for absolute divorce from Edward Andrew Cooke yesterday in the District Supreme Court. The parties were married July 10, 1924, and have one child, according to the complaint. Through Attorney James Bird, the wife accused her husband of misconduct and named a corespondent. She also stated that Cooke failed to adequately support her.

CHILDREN TO TAKE PROMINENT PARTS IN FLAG DAY RITES

1,000 PUPILS TO SING AT OPEN-AIR MEETING

Other Functions Will Be Held in Schools, With Oath of Allegiance as Feature.

Washington school children will play prominent parts in the observance here today of Flag Day at various exercises to be held in the city.

More than 1,000 of their number, gaily costumed and bearing American flags, will participate in exercises to be held jointly by the District of Columbia Department, Grand Army of the Republic, and the Woman's Relief Corps at 8 o'clock tonight on the east steps of the Capitol.

Appropriate exercises also are planned in every public school in the city, with the time to be devoted and the character of the observance to be left to the discretion of the respective principals.

As one of the major events in the observance of Flag Day here, the exercises at the Capitol are expected to attract a crowd equally as large as that in attendance at any of these open-air programs since they were started in 1920.

The Rev. Dr. John C. Palmer, pastor of the Washington Heights Presbyterian Church, will be the principal speaker. Members of the Grand Army of the Republic group in charge of the affair include Samuel G. Mawson, department commander, who will preside; Maj. Gen. John L. Clem, known as the "drummer boy of the Civil War," and F. J. Young.

The Woman's Relief Corps is represented in the arrangements by Mrs. Charlotte M. Cary, department commander; Mrs. Cora L. Manoly, Mrs. E. Helen Temple, Elizabeth D. Shaw and Mrs. Marie Moore Forrest, of the Community Center Department, Washington public schools.

At the schools this morning flags will be raised, and in some of the schools the oath of allegiance to the flag will be given by pupils and teachers. Several addresses on "The Meaning of the Flag" are to be delivered by pupils.

Alleged Impersonation Jails Man in Check Case

William Theodore Mangum, 31 years old, of Landover, Md., arrested by police of the Fifth Precinct when, they allege, he tried to pass a worthless check by impersonating a policeman, yesterday was booked at the precinct on four charges of passing bad checks.

Mangum, police charge, tried to pass a check at a drug store at Eleventh and C streets southeast, telling the druggist that he was a policeman attached to the Fifth Precinct. The druggist saw a policeman, Thomas E. Bailey, attached to the Fifth Precinct, near the store, and asked Bailey to identify Mangum, police said. Upon finding that Mangum did not know the names of the captain and lieutenant at the precinct, Bailey placed Mangum under arrest. He was held at the precinct last night.

Georgetown Youth, 21, Named for Rifle Team

A 21-year-old Georgetown youth, J. Prescott Blount, of 1338 Thirty-first street northwest, has been selected as an alternate to accompany the United States Free Rifle Team to compete in the international rifle matches to be held August 16 in Stockholm, Sweden.

The announcement, made here yesterday by the National Rifle Association as sponsors of the American team, pointed out that Blount finished eleventh last week at Quantico in the final trials in competition with 25 other crack shots from all parts of the Nation. Blount, who formerly attended Western High School here and the University of Maryland, is a sergeant in Battery A, 268th Coast Artillery, District of Columbia National Guard.

CITIZENS ADVOCATE GUARDED CROSSING

WANT PUPILS PROTECTED

Resolutions demanding safety zones at Connecticut avenue and Albemarle street, prohibition of parking at all four corners at the intersection and police and traffic light protection for school children there were adopted last night at a meeting of the Forest Hills Citizens Association, held in the Methodist Home for the Aged.

Adoption of these resolutions followed a report by the transportation committee of the association, following its conference with Traffic Director William H. Harland as a result of the death Tuesday of Ann Wooland, 8 years old, of 4514 Connecticut avenue, after she was struck by the automobile of Maj. Wyatt G. Franks at Connecticut avenue and Albemarle street. Maj. Franks later was exonerated of blame in connection with the accident.

L. A. Carruthers, chairman of the Forest Hills transportation committee, reported that Director Harland had favored reduction of the speed limit from 30 to 22 miles per hour on Connecticut avenue near the scene of the accident pending erection of a traffic light at the corner. The earliest date possible for erection of a light is July 15, the committee reported. Reduction of speed has been recommended by Harland to Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty, Carruthers reported, placing the responsibility squarely up to him for immediate action.

As an additional protection for school children, the association passed a resolution requesting traffic lights from Albemarle street to Ellicott street on Connecticut avenue. These, speakers asserted, will protect children of the E. V. Brown and Grant Road Schools. Another demand made by the association was for an additional police appropriation to enable the Fourteenth Precinct, in which the association is located, to have traffic policemen on duty when children are crossing the street.

At present the precinct has only seven men available for duty, with three schools to be protected.

Lloyd Patch, Jesse Crawford and Dr. H. C. Dickinson, traffic expert of the Bureau of Standards, members of the Forest Hills Association, together with H. V. Schreiber and Edwin S. Hege, of the Chevy Chase Citizens Association, adjoining, were speakers on the subject of safety along Connecticut avenue.

The association voted to have another regular meeting in July, this to be the third of the association, making its delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations eligible for the season which opens next October. Three regular meetings are required of any association by the federation before it may gain membership. George Esch presided at the meeting last night.

Sedan and Liquor Captured.

A sedan containing 66 gallons of alleged corn liquor was abandoned at Twelfth street and Florida avenue norwest, by a colored man, who apparently decided he would rather trust his feet than his Ford, when Policeman William McEwen, of the Eighth Precinct, gave chase last night.

Man Declared Guilty In Manslaughter Case

Gus Tokas, restaurant proprietor, of 2809 M street northwest, was pronounced guilty of manslaughter by a jury before Justice Frederick L. Siddons yesterday in criminal branch of the District Supreme Court. He was placed on trial on a second degree murder charge in connection with the death of George Washington, colored, and the jurors brought in the verdict of the lesser charge after two hours deliberation.

According to testimony, Tokas became involved in a fight with three colored man on July 30, 1928, when they refused to pay for food he had served them in his restaurant at Fourteenth and U streets northwest. The three, it is said, beat Tokas and he succeeded in grabbing a large knife and chased them into the street. He was charged with slashing Washington, an innocent bystander, with the weapon. Washington died on October 3. The prosecution was conducted by Assistant District Attorney Walter M. Shea. Tokas faces a maximum sentence of fifteen years.

60-Year-Old Bride Asks Divorce From Engineer

Mrs. Marion I. Irwin, 60-year-old bride of only eight months, of 642 Sixth street northeast, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to grant her a limited divorce from Matthew W Irwin, engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad, of 138 C street northeast.

The petitioner, through Attorney David L. Riordan, declared she was married to the defendant last October 10 at Baltimore, Md., and lived with him at the Sixth street address until March 7, when, she charged, he deserted her. Irwin has since refused to live with her, the petitioner declared and pointed out to the court that she was unable to obtain employment because of her age. She stated that Irwin has a salary of approximately $300 a month and asked the court to grant her adequate alimony.

Pratt Scores Policemen For Rum Raid Publicity

Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, envisions the police force as an organization concerned with something more than advertising its prohibition enforcement activities, and yesterday he took occasion to let the force know how he felt about the matter.

Pratt sent a memorandum to Capt. R. E. Doyle, commander of the Eighth Precinct, asking why it was that policemen of Doyle's precinct were photographed surrounded by liquor and holding bottles of beer aloft in their hands the while they smile jovially. Pratt asked why the men had sought such publicity.

The police chief would not make any comment on his communication to the captain, saying that he preferred to wait and hear the explanation of the policemen concerned, but it is no secret that Maj. Pratt does not want the District police force to become impressed on the public mind as primarily a liquor law enforcement organization. "We are concerned with protecting public life and property," Pratt declared.
